Thurmond Starts Talkathon

Civil Rights Bill Foe Might Talk For Six Hours

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—With just a smattering of senators on hand, Sen. Thurmond (D-SC) tonight opened what looked like the beginning of a prolonged blast at the compromise civil rights bill.

The Southerner, speaking so quietly that he could scarcely be heard in the Senate gallery, started his speech at 8:55 p.m. EDT. He told a reporter he might keep talking for six hours.

"Is this a filibuster?" a reporter asked one of Thurmond's aides. "I wouldn't use that word," the aide replied. "The senator says he has some educating to do."

Other Southern senators made Senate speeches earlier in the day against the bill, but kept them at fairly moderate length.

During the early parts of Thurmond's speech, hardly any of the 15 senators present were listening—even though they would have had to strain to hear his low monotone.

Speech Follows Recess

Finally, Sen. Pastore (D-RI) asked for order to quiet the loud hum of conversing senators.

Republican Leader Knowland of California also asked the presiding officer "for order" as Thurmond continued speaking slowly in barely audible tones.

Official reporters of Senate debate moved over to an adjoining desk to catch his words. Public galleries were more than half filled but few of the spectators could hear Thurmond.

Thurmond was slowly reading texts of various laws now protecting the right to vote.

Thurmond started speaking after an hour-long recess called by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas, who announced he had temporarily run out of speakers on the bill.

South Fears Rules Change

Some other Southern Democrats had acknowledged earlier they lacked the strength to wage a successful filibuster.

They also expressed fear that if they tried a filibuster the Senate might change its rules to make it easier to limit debate.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, said he hoped for a final vote on the civil rights bill by tomorrow at the latest. It was still uncertain, however, how much time the Southern opposition would take to deliver their last round of speeches.

The controversial measure was passed by the House yesterday on a 297-97 roll call. If approved by the Senate, it will become the first basic civil rights legislation to come out of Congress in 82 years.

Disarm Parley Near Collapse

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The four Western Powers served notice tonight that they will complete outlining their full program in a long-shot hope of saving the foundering London disarmament parley.

The five-month-long U.N. Disarmament Subcommittee talks seemed to be near the breaking point under the weight of Soviet attacks on motives and policies of the West, particularly those of the United States.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin broke in today on Harold Stassen, chief U.S. delegate, to emphasize that the West's idea for a two-year suspension of nuclear tests under certain conditions cannot be negotiated.

"We do not regard this proposal as forming a basis for an agreement," Zorin announced.

The West's real purpose, Zorin declared, is to spy on Soviet secrets.

Feat Leaves Pilot "Bit Winded"

Sidney Hughes, a British Royal Air Force flight officer, displays the ejection seat in which he was catapulted from a U. S. Navy plane yesterday when he was some five feet off the ground on take-off at the Patuxent, Md., air station. Hughes' feat was a test aimed to prove that a low-level ejection device will save fliers' lives. All the British pilot had to say about the experience was that he felt "a bit winded."

Senator-Elect Proxmire Flies To Washington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Democratic Senator-elect William E. Proxmire flew here tonight saying his smashing upset victory in Wisconsin is a repudiation of the Eisenhower administration and a forecast of more Democratic sweeps.

Proxmire was greeted at National Airport—and joined in his prediction of good fortune ahead for Democratic candidates—by a group of party leaders headed by Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

There was only one small flaw in the arrival festivities: Johnson broke the news that plans for swearing in the fast-moving Proxmire tonight had fallen through.

Johnson said Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California withheld the necessary consent until he could actually have in hand an official telegram certifying Proxmire's election. Johnson said Gov. Vernon W. Thomson of Wisconsin advised him such a telegram could not be sent until tomorrow.

Vice President Nixon had been reported ready to administer the oath until Knowland raised his objection.

Proxmire said at an airport news conference there were several reasons for his victory yesterday. His margin over former Republican Gov. Walter J. Kohler, Proxmire acknowledged, amazed him.

"I campaigned strictly on the Democratic record in Congress," he said. "So my success was both a rejection of the Eisenhower administration and an affirmation of the Democratic program."

RAF Pilot Ejects Himself From U.S. Jet On Takeoff

PATUXENT, Md., Aug. 28 (AP)—A grinning little Englishman blasted himself free of an American jet plane on takeoff today and lived to drink a toast to "the greatest thing in aviation safety since the parachute."

Secretary of the Navy Gates proposed the toast after watching Royal Air Force Flying Officer Sidney Hughes of Newcastle-on-Tyne perform the first live American test of a British invention to cut the heavy loss of life among pilots whose jet craft fail at low altitudes.

The successful demonstration at this naval station clinched Navy acceptance of the American-modified version of the British Martin-Baker ejection seat. American adaptation made by Grumman Aircraft Corp. of Bethpage, N. Y. was ordered installed in 50 jet trainers.

Republicans Blame Stunning Wisconsin Setback On Discord

Jubilant Democrats See Gains In '58

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Jubilant Democrats raised their sights on possible 1958 congressional gains today as Republicans blamed dissension within their ranks for the defeat of their candidate in Wisconsin's special senatorial election.

Chairman Smathers (D-Fla.) said the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee believes, after assessing the election of William Proxmire to fill the seat of the GOP Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, that their party can pick up six Senate seats next year.

"We had thought we might get three or four more but if other candidates follow Proxmire's tactics I believe we can take at least six Senate seats away from the Republicans," Smathers said. He declined to specify which seats.

Proxmire, a vigorous campaigner, was the first Democrat elected to the Senate in Wisconsin since 1932.

Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.) commented that the Wisconsin outcome "looks to me kind of like a revolution."

When Proxmire is sworn in the Democrats will have a 50-46 edge over the Republicans in the Senate. The seats of 20 Republicans and 11 Democrats are at stake in next year's voting. In the House, Democrats outnumber Republicans 233-200, with two vacancies. All House seats will be at stake.

Vice President Nixon said the Republicans have no excuse for the stunning defeat of their candidate, former Gov. Walter J. Kohler, in yesterday's voting.

"It was the old story of a united, vigorous minority party, with a hard-fighting, resourceful candidate, defeating a divided bickering, overconfident majority," Nixon said in a statement.

Mrs. Jean McCarthy, widow of the senator, interpreted the results as a repudiation of the "Modern Republicanism" President Eisenhower has espoused and Nixon has promoted.

"I am not at all surprised at the outcome," she told reporters. "Wisconsin, which is essentially a Republican state, has made it completely clear that they are unalterably opposed to 'Modern Republicanism.'"

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said he had discussed the Wisconsin results with Eisenhower.

"Of course," Hagerty said, "he is disappointed that Walter Kohler was not elected to represent the people of Wisconsin in the Senate. There is no hiding the fact that we took a bad licking in Wisconsin."

94 Persons Missing

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 28 (AP)—An official announcement tonight said 94 persons are missing in the sinking of an Argentine river steamer following a collision with an American freighter last night.

The Argentine government said in an announcement, "There is a possibility that some of those missing may have reached the coast by swimming or were rescued by small boats which have not yet reached a port."

The missing were all aboard the 3,754-ton Argentine vessel Ciudad de Buenos Aires.

The steamer and the 7,890-ton freighter Mormacsurf collided in rain and fog in the Uruguay River shortly before midnight.

Dark Future Seen If West Plan Rejected

Stassen To Return Home This Weekend For Consultations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—President Eisenhower today said Russia's attack on the West's disarmament plan threatens mankind with a future indefinitely darkened by the danger of nuclear destruction.

Matching the strong language used by Soviet disarmament negotiator Valerian Zorin in London yesterday, Eisenhower said it would be tragic if Russia impetuously rejected the Western proposals.

He added in a statement: "Such a Soviet attitude would condemn humanity to an indefinite future of immeasurable danger."

The President said the American, British, French and Canadian negotiators had not even completed laying all their disarmament cards on the table when Zorin delivered his 90-minute speech.

Stassen Called Home

"It would be tragic," Eisenhower said, "if these important first-stage proposals, fraught with such significance for the peace of the world, were rejected by the Soviet Union even before they could have been seriously studied and before the Western presentation is complete."

The President authorized Harold E. Stassen, the American negotiator in London, to fly home this weekend.

The White House announced shortly after Eisenhower's statement was issued that Stassen would complete presentation of the Western disarmament proposal at tomorrow's session.

State Department press chief Lincoln White announced Stassen's return. He said Stassen would consult with Secretary of State Dulles and presumably with Eisenhower.

Hopes Dim For Agreement

Eisenhower's counterattack was based on the official Washington feeling that Russia had ruled out any hope of crowning the London talks with some kind of first-stage disarmament agreement.

It was noted that Zorin said flatly today that the Western plan for a two-year suspension of atomic tests is not regarded by the Russians as the basis for an agreement.

But Eisenhower kept the door open, saying: "We shall never renounce our efforts to find ways and means to save mankind from that danger—nuclear destruction—and to establish a just and lasting peace."

Bloody Prison Revolt Probed

BUENA VISTA, Colo., Aug. 28 (AP)—A special investigator moved into the Colorado Reformatory tonight to probe a bloody revolt which saw one rioter slain, five others wounded and three guards savagely mauled.

Gov. Steve McNichols, who made a personal inspection of the south-central Colorado institution for offenders under 19 years of age, hired former Denver detective Mark O'Brien to ferret out reasons behind the 45-minute uprising last night in 67-year-old cellblock C.

The governor termed the cellblock "unfit for human habitation."

A similar investigation was opened by Dist. Atty. Robert Nevins and the governor placed him in charge of the two-way inquiry.

The riot started as 125 inmates were being led back to maximum security quarters after dinner and a recreation period in the yard, ringed by a 14-foot high fence.

The inmates kept up constant yammering during the night and about half of the 387 prisoners began shouting and breaking up furnishings again after being returned from the mess hall this morning.

Warden James S. Thomas and 60 guards and other officials quelled the violence last night with bullets and tear gas.

Evaristo Gomez, 23, of Denver, identified as one of the ringleaders, was shot in the head while beating Guard Robert Allinger, 47.

HAS HOLE IN HEART—Two-year-old Stevie Brill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brill, Wheeling, W. Va., plays with his toys not realizing that next month he must face surgery on his heart. Stevie is suffering from a hole "about the size of a dime" in the lower part of the heart that is sapping his strength, making surgery necessary. The operation, one of the most intricate in medicine, requires the use of 12 pints of blood, which must be obtained by the Brill family.

Army Rules Out Light Tests As Sterility Cause

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Army said today an investigation has indicated no scientific basis for allegations that some World War II GIs were made sterile by a secret weapon experiment.

The secret weapons, never actually used in battle, were powerful arc lamps mounted on tanks. The idea was to suddenly switch them upon enemy troops, caught by surprise on a battlefield at night. The lights were expected to blind the enemy soldiers.

The idea was for Allied riflemen, hidden behind the tanks, to pounce upon the brilliantly illuminated but blinded enemy troops.

Last June some of the estimated 3,000 or so U.S. soldiers who were exposed to the powerful lamps while working with them said they believed the light machines may have made them unable to father children. After a number of newspaper items appeared, quoting veterans who were exposed to the lights, the Army promised an investigation.

The Army announcement today said the matter now has been thoroughly investigated and it added, "There is no valid scientific basis which could support the newspaper allegations."

Food Prices Rise

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—Wholesale food prices as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet food index were slightly higher this week.

At $6.32 the index compared with $6.29 last week and was 4.6 per cent higher than $6.04 in the similar week last year. Wholesale food prices had dropped for two weeks after establishing a two-year high of $6.39 three weeks ago.

U.S. Tests Huge Missile Amid Speedup Demands

COCOA BEACH, Fla., Aug. 28 (AP)—An intermediate-range guided missile was fired from the Air Force Test Center north of here today in the wake of Russian claims to have perfected an intercontinental missile capable of delivering an atomic warhead anywhere in the world.

Neither authorities here nor in Washington would say whether it was a Jupiter or a Thor missile. Both have ranges of 1,500 miles. The Jupiter is an Army missile and the Thor has been developed by the Air Force.

The long, slender projectile took off in a burst of flame at 4:04 p.m. to the surprise of observers who had thought bad weather in this area might prevent a firing today.

Health Officers Map Plans To Meet Outbreak

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The military services were disclosed today to have ordered more than seven million doses of the new Asian flu vaccine.

Previously, it had been reported the military was down for no more than four million shots.

However, the Public Health Service revealed the higher figure today and said the services plan to give two shots per person as compared with the single dose planned for civilians.

A spokesman for the Army's surgeon general's office explained that the military forces are "responsible for operational readiness." He said they constitute a group which "cannot accept the amount of disability that the civilian population can."

Plan To Keep Schools Open

The military report was made at a meeting of state health officers, called together to discuss steps to take against the Asian flu epidemic which doctors have said may hit the country this fall or winter.

The health officers approved a resolution saying:

"There is no practical advantage in the closing of schools or the curtailment of public gatherings as it relates to the spread of this disease."

But, the resolution added that in some cases "there may be administrative reasons for closing schools due to illness of teachers, bus drivers, large absentee rates, etc."

Priority System Planned

The disease, while seldom serious, has a high "attack rate."

In another resolution, the health officers asked the U. S. Public Health Service to recommend to civilian physicians a system of priorities for inoculation with the vaccine.

First would be doctors and others who care for the sick. Second would be those who perform community services essential to health. The resolution said the determination of essential people might vary from place to place.

The PHS reported the release of 562,610 more doses of the vaccine today, and said the total 1957 supply might reach 85 million.

Council Predicts Holiday Traffic Death Toll Of 240

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)—The National Safety Council today estimated that 420 Americans will die in traffic accidents during the Labor Day weekend.

The council recalled that during this year's four-day Memorial Day holiday and four-day Independence Day periods fatalities had been no greater than they would have been during nonholiday periods of similar length.

The tolls were 412 for the Memorial Day period and 426 for the Independence Day period.

"If we can do as well over the three-day Labor Day weekend, traffic deaths can be held to 375 or fewer," stated the council's president, Ned H. Dearborn.

"But the cold figures indicate that, unless extra care is used to meet extra holiday hazards, the last big holiday traffic jam of the season could bring death to 420 persons in the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday."

However, Maj. Gen. D. N. Yates, commander of Patrick Air Force Base near here, said conditions were not bad enough to prevent firing.

Yates said no information beyond the standard release stating that a firing had taken place could be given out. He said he assumed the test was classified.

The commander added he did not think there was anything unusual about the test.

The missile rose slowly from its ramp, then picked up speed and vanished in about 40 seconds into overcast skies. Its roar could be heard for almost two minutes after its disappearance.

Some sources here said a Thor was fired but there had been earlier reports a Jupiter was to be tested.

Union Chief, Five Others Are Indicted

Federal Grand Jury Charges Conspiracy To Evade $184,000

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 28 (AP)—A federal grand jury today for the second time accused Dave Beck of income tax evasion. It also charged that his son and four others conspired with him to conceal his true income as Teamsters Union president.

The jury of 16 men and five women reported to U.S. Judge John C. Bowen at the end of a four-and-a-half week investigation with a seven-count indictment in which Beck was accused of evading $184,000 in taxes in the years 1951-53.

Named with Beck were his son, Dave Jr.; Fred Verschueren, an auditor for the international Teamsters Union; Nathan Shefferman, a Chicago labor relations consultant; Shefferman's son, Shelton, and Norman Gessert, a Teamsters Union organizer and a cousin of Mrs. Beck Sr.

Beck's Bail Boosted

The jury accused each of conspiring to conceal Beck's taxable income which the jury said was $420,000 for the years 1951-53 but was reported as $165,665.

On May 2 the same grand jury accused the union leader of evading $56,000 in taxes in 1950.

Judge Bowen issued a bench warrant for the arrest of each defendant. He raised the bail for Beck Sr. from $5,000, set after his May indictment, to $25,000, and fixed bail for the others at $5,000. Sept. 12 was set for the arraignment.

The maximum penalty for income tax evasion and for conspiracy is five years in prison and a $20,000 fine on each count.

Union Boss Invoked Fifth

The grand jury action climaxed a series of legal and other developments involving Beck since the latter's appearance before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee last spring.

Beck invoked the Fifth Amendment repeatedly when questioned about his financial affairs.

The federal grand jury was impaneled here after Beck's return to his Seattle home from the hearing and the first indictment was returned in May. Later a King County—Seattle—special grand jury indicted Beck and his son on grand larceny charges, accusing them of selling union-owned automobiles and pocketing the money.

Aid Conferees Split Difference In Money Bills

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—A Senate-House Conference Committee agreed today on a compromise $3,435,810,000 foreign aid money bill, $1,004,400,000 less than President Eisenhower originally asked.

Assuming the Senate and House go along with the compromise, however, Eisenhower is expected to accept it too.

The compromise just about split the difference between the $3,692,710,000 Senate bill and the House measure providing $3,191,810,000, or $500,900,000 less.

The agreed-on figure was 244 million dollars above the House figure and $256,900,000 under the Senate figure.

Agreement came after two meetings of the committee. The first meeting this morning broke up in what Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) described as a huff. Dirksen said this happened when one of the House conferees announced his group would not vote any compromise carrying more than a 200-million-dollar boost over the House bill.

For a time it looked as though there might be a stalemate that could imperil early adjournment of Congress, with Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.) declaring that senators "can be stubborn, too."

However, a little later the afternoon meeting was arranged and it proved successful. The compromise is yet to be acted on finally by the House and Senate.

The compromise gives the administration $1,340,000,000 in new funds for military assistance, compared with the $1,250,000,000 voted by the House and the $475,000,000 approved by the Senate. Since both houses voted a $538,800,000 carry-over for this fund, there will be a total of $1,878,800,000 available for military aid this year.

Commanders Tell Of Supply Pileups At Northern Bases

Frigid Weather, Korean Defense Buildup Blamed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Air Force generals testified today that at least 44 million dollars worth of spare parts sat unused and unwanted in what amounted to cold storage at nine Far North air bases.

One of the reasons they cited for the supply pileup was the frigid weather at the bases, in Greenland, Newfoundland and Labrador. They also blamed the hurry-up defense buildup during the Korean War.

Former commanders of the bases said the value of parts and supplies involved may go higher than their estate.

"We do not know what's still there," Maj. Gen. John D. Ryan told the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

The Senate group last Friday said it had uncovered great waste and inefficiency at the bases, which made up the former northern air command.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Perkins McGuire has conceded the Senate investigators indeed turned up a sorry situation. But McGuire said 20 million dollars worth of supplies already has been recovered and that all remaining items would be rounded up.

The generals testified today that some of the surplus was left over from World War II. And they said changes in planes and other equipment used at the bases made some of the supplies obsolete—good only for scrap.

Placed in evidence by the subcommittee, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) were reports on the situation by the Army and Air Force inspectors general. These admitted inaccurate records, improper inventory controls and other foulups.

McClellan said in advance of the hearing he intends to find out "whether the excesses found exist on a worldwide basis."

Immigration Bill Advanced

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—A bill liberalizing several sections of the immigration laws was passed by the House today and sent to the Senate for concurrence in minor changes.

Rep. Celler (D-NY) estimated the legislation would permit about 60,000 aliens now barred from the United States to enter the country in the next two years.

The House voted 293-58 to accept the Senate-approved bill with a few amendments chiefly technical in nature. It was expected the Senate would approve these quickly and get the bill to President Eisenhower before Congress adjourns.

Almost all of Eisenhower's proposals for liberalizing the immigration laws were left out of the measure. But House leaders promised that the President's major recommendations would be considered at the next session of Congress.

Rep. Keating (R-NY) called the bill "a quarter-loaf measure" and expressed regret that it did not grant permanent residence to some 25,000 Hungarian refugees now in this country.

George Washington's first inauguration was delayed more than a month because of travel difficulties.

Three Masked Bandits Hold Up Canadian Train

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Aug. 28 (AP)—Three masked gunmen dressed as railroad workers staged an old-fashioned wild West train robbery today aboard a Canadian National Railways mail car.

Postal authorities were unable to estimate the size of the loot immediately. But they said the train could have been carrying large bags of money regularly shipped from Toronto banks for payrolls in the southern Ontario city of London.

The bandits apparently boarded the train unnoticed at Woodstock before dawn. During the seven-mile run to Ingersoll they entered the mail car, flashing their pistols. Then the gunmen locked five members of the crew in a washroom and two others in a closet.

They asked the eighth man: "Where's the money?" He replied that he was not familiar with registered mail and was locked in the closet, too.

Then they ransacked the car and jumped from the train while it stopped for two minutes at Ingersoll. The train continued until the crew broke free just outside of Ingersoll and pulled the emergency cord.

Ingersoll police were not told of the holdup until two hours after it happened and did not set up any roadblocks. They said they had no idea how the gunmen got out of town—or even whether they had left town at all.

George A. Shea, the railroad's police director, said the holdup may have been an inside job.

Reached at London, where he was attending a police chiefs convention, Shea said: "It appears the left door of the mail car was left unlocked. In railroad mail operations that is a cardinal sin."

Mailman Saves Woman From Possible Attack

FERNDALE, Md., Aug. 28 (AP)—Police credited the timely arrival of the mailman today with saving a 32-year-old Anne Arundel County housewife from possible criminal attack.

The Pasadena woman, ignoring a knife held at her throat and a warning not to yell, let out a scream. The passing mailman, 22-year-old Richard Sybert of Pasadena, chased the assailant out the back entrance.

Police Sgt. Arthur Downs said the housewife, Mrs. Jane Davis, was washing dishes in her Riviera Isle home when a man knocked at her door and asked to use her telephone. She showed him the telephone and was back at her dishwashing chore, she said, when the man was at her side with a knife saying, "Don't scream and you won't get hurt."

A 21-year-old suspect was being held here for questioning by Anne Arundel County police.

U.S. Student Defies Chinese

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Shelby Tucker, one of the American group visiting Red China, was threatened today with the deportation if he does not surrender his passport for immigration inspection, the British news agency Reuters reported from Peiping.

Tucker, a 22-year-old law student at Corpus Christi College, Oxford University, lives at Pass Christian, Miss.

He has consistently refused to give up his passport to Chinese authorities for examination because he says he will not break American law.

Reuters reported he was awakened at 1 a.m. by officials and told that unless he changes his views he will have to leave the country.

Five others besides Tucker refused to give up their passports when they arrived in Peiping, despite the pleas of the Rev. Warren McKenna and other delegation leaders.

The others have since given up their passports for examination.

Tucker was not told when he would be required to leave or by what route. He was not to leave his hotel without informing Youth Federation interpreters. But a newly arrived group leader said the Chinese are reconsidering and Tucker would not have to leave before Saturday if their decision stands.

Red Tape Cut As Ill Pilgrims Rushed Home

BOULOGNE, France, Aug. 28 (AP)—The French waived passport and customs formalities here tonight to rush about 50 British Catholic youth pilgrims home with apparent symptoms of Asian flu.

About a dozen delegates who had attended the Catholic Youth Congress in Rome were carried aboard the channel steamer Maid of Orleans on stretchers. The others among the stricken 50 walked aboard.

MORE TROUBLE FOR BECK—Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union, consults his watch at a meeting in Los Angeles yesterday of the union's executive board. Not long afterwards, a federal grand jury in Seattle indicted him on seven counts of evading $184,000 of income tax and accused his son and four associates of conspiracy to aid in the evasion. Beck already faces trial on a state charge of grand larceny as a result of an indictment accusing him and his son of selling union-owned automobiles and pocketing the money.

Md. Legislators Ask Ike Halt Bainbridge Cutback

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Maryland members of Congress today asked the White House to intervene against proposed cutbacks at the Bainbridge, Md., Naval Training Center.

Sen. Beall and Reps. Miller and Devereux, Maryland Republicans, said they protested the Navy's plans in a meeting with Sherman Adams, chief aide to President Eisenhower.

They said Adams asked for additional data to back up their contention that plans to transfer recruits to the Great Lakes Naval Training Center near Chicago would be false economy.

Beall said the requested information would be on its way within 24 hours.

The three Marylanders received little more than sympathy from Navy Secretary Gates in a conference yesterday, according to Miller. He said Gates indicated, however, the matter would be given further study.

Air Force To Close Seven Facilities

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Air Force announced today that seven of its facilities have been scheduled for closing.

It said they have been declared in excess of future needs.

The facilities are Wendover Air Force Base, Utah, scheduled for closing in the fall of 1958; Foster AFB, Texas, spring 1959; Savannah Storage Station, Ga., fall 1959; Ardmore AFB, Okla., summer 1959; Philadelphia Storage Station, Pa., spring 1960; Cheli Air Force Depot, Maywood, Calif., spring 1961 and Reading Storage Station, Pa., during the coming year.

The announcement said that in addition the Tactical Air Command's 450th and 322nd Day Fighter Wings, Foster AFB, Tex., will be inactivated. Also inactivated will be the Air Defense Command units operating from McGhee-Tyson Airport, Tenn., and Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport, Minn.

Negro Airman's Job Quest Ends In Highway Dept.

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 28 (AP)—The State Highway Department today hired a Negro who has been job-seeking since his discharge from the Air Force with the rank of captain last May 8.

The pilot, Marlon Dewitt Green, 28, of Lansing, a father of five children, logged a total of 3,077 hours of flying all types of planes during nine years in the Air Force.

Green, seeking a flying job with a regularly scheduled airline, had charged there was a "color barrier" in the air. He filed complaints of discrimination in employment against United Air Lines and Capital Airlines and three Michigan firms.

John C. Mackie, state highway commissioner, said the department was arranging for the lease of two planes from the State Aeronautics Department.

Green will start at a salary of $5,971 a year. His pay can go to $7,621 annually.

It is said that pretzels were first baked by monks in the Middle Ages.

Export Controls To Poland Eased

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The government today eased export controls on goods destined for Poland. It gave that Communist nation a trade status nearly equal to any of this country's friendliest allies.

The move opened the way for Poland to get such prized U. S. goods as industrial machinery, steel mill products, machine tools, electrical machinery and vehicles. Also under the new rules, Poland can now import surplus U. S. agricultural commodities on a bartered basis, something hitherto impossible.

The relaxation of controls was promised last June when the two countries signed an economic agreement providing Poland a U. S. loan of nearly 49 million dollars for the purchase of American agricultural products and mining machinery.

Western Allies Suffer Serious Setback In Tiny Laos

By JOHN RODERICK
HONG KONG, Aug. 28 (AP)—The United States and its Western partners have suffered a serious setback in the tiny but strategic kingdom of Laos.
After 2½ months of crisis, the National Assembly has invested Prince Souvanna Phouma as premier, at the head of a coalition of two leading political parties—the Independents and National Progressives.
The country thus has come full circle since Souvanna Phouma resigned as premier May 29 after a vote hostile to his policy of negotiation with the dissident, Communist-inspired Pathet Lao.
The United States, France, Britain and neighboring South Vietnam had looked forward to a new leader who would refuse to accept the Pathet Lao into a coalition.
But two Western-minded former premiers, Katay Don Sasorith and Phoui Sananikone, upon whom the United States had pinned some of its hopes, failed to win Assembly approval. So did a far left parliamentarian, Bong Souvannavong.
Both Katay and Phoui are members of Souvanna Phouma's new Cabinet. One of its first acts was to announce that the Pathet Lao, which controls two northern provinces, will participate in a coalition government to be formed within two months.
General elections in which the Pathet Lao will take part are scheduled for January.
The Pathet Lao began as a nationalist-minded resistance organization when France ruled the kingdom. It got concrete and ideological assistance from neighboring Communist North Vietnam, which also was fighting France.
During the fighting, it seized large chunks of the provinces of Sam Neua and Phong Saly and has since used its hold for bargaining.
The United States view is that Pathet Lao members should be granted amnesty and allowed to re-enter politics, not as a party but as individuals.
U.S. interest in this poor and remote Southeast Asian land is explained by the map. Laos sits between America's friends and foes in an uneasy balance which, if lost, could be perilous for the West. Red China and Red North Vietnam are on one side, free South Vietnam, Thailand, Burma and Cambodia are on the other.
With the renaming of Souvanna Phouma as premier, the Pathet Lao negotiations again become a family affair, for leader of the dissidents is a voluble, personable Prince Souvannavong, his half-brother.
Last December, after prolonged negotiations, the royal half-brothers signed a 12-point agreement which provided for a coalition, granted the Pathet Lao legal political rights, proclaimed an amnesty, and opened up to its posts in the administration.
The Pathet Lao, in turn, guaranteed to restore the two provinces and give up its 6,000-man army to the royal government.
Pro-American government critics questioned the Pathet Lao's good faith.
Souvannavong added new conditions, chief of which was that the royal government first conclude an aid agreement with Red China. That was the situation when Souvanna Phouma's government fell at the end of May.
In interviews with this writer, both men said they were eager to "reach an accord. Souvannavong, smiling blandly, denied his Pathet Lao was Communist, that it was backed either by Red China or Red North Vietnam. Far from being a Communist, he said, "I am something of a traditionalist."
Whether the country eventually falls into the Communist orbit appears to depend on the temperaments of the half-brothers. If Souvanna Phouma remains firm in opposing Communist influence, and if Souvannavong genuinely finds his prestige will be more secure as a nationalist than as a Marxist—then all should go well.
If not, little Laos may find that like the citizens of ancient Troy, they have permitted a deadly wooden horse within their gates.

'September Morn' On Its Way To Respectability

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—"September Morn," considered by many the most famous nude painting of modern times, is on its way to respectability and a permanent place in the famed Metropolitan Museum of Art.
Museum officials decided today to retrieve the controversial canvas from near oblivion by announcing that it would become a part of the museum's permanent collection.
The painting, created by French artist Paul Chabas in 1912, will go on public display Friday. It will occupy a featured place in the museum's Great Hall.
It depicts a young, nude woman standing ankle deep in Lake Annecy in Upper Savoy in France. It is currently valued at $30,000 by the museum.
The painting was bought soon after its 1912 exhibition by a wealthy Russian and was believed later to have been destroyed during the Russian Revolution. However, it later was found in a private Paris collection and was purchased by William Cox Wright, Philadelphia. Wright gave it to the Metropolitan Museum.

Three Men Accused Of Shipping Black Bass To Pa. Without Permit

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 (AP)—The federal government today charged three Maryland men with shipping live black bass to Pennsylvania without permits.

It is believed to be the first prosecution under a 1926 federal law passed to supplement state laws protecting game fish.

Named in the criminal information filed in federal court are Hanford W. Owens of Perryville and Duncan Garswell and Ralph Murphy of Charlestown. They are described as commercial fishermen in the Cecil County towns at the head of Chesapeake Bay.

Maryland law requires issuance of permits for shipment and sale of live black bass and certain other game fish. Shipment across a state line is covered by the federal law.

The three men are charged with delivering black bass to the Zion Grove, Pa. trout hatchery.

Owens is accused of delivering $137 on 14 different dates between

Apple Size Reduced By Va. Drought

WINCHESTER, Va., Aug. 28 (AP)—The Virginia Crop Reporting Service says apples in the heavy producing northern counties have failed to make usual growth and the size of early fall apples is much less than average.

The report indicated heavy rains are needed to prevent the late apples from being seriously reduced in size in Frederick and Clarke counties, the state's two largest producing areas. In most other counties, rainfall has been sufficient to produce average size late apples.

The Crop Reporting Service report was preceded by a statement from the Appalachian Apple Service of Martinsburg, W. Va. It said the apple crop of the four-state apple belt—Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania—had been reduced 20 to 25 per cent beyond normal chance of recovery. If dry weather continues, it said, reduction will be still greater.

The four-state belt estimate by the U.S. Department of Agriculture on Aug. 1 was 21.7 million bushels. Appalachian's revised figure is 17 million. The belt had 21.6 million last year.

Peach size was reduced also by the drought, the Crop Reporting Service said, and production has been much less than had been expected.

Baltimore Prods State Tax Group

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 (AP)—Baltimore asked the State Tax Commission today to hurry up with its assessments of manufacturers' stock and machinery so it can start taxing them for the first time.

The city imposed the tax for the first time last December and was upheld in courts in suits by the manufacturers. Baltimore is the only Maryland government to impose a 100 per cent tax on the inventory and machinery. All counties except Anne Arundel impose a partial tax on one or the other.

Baltimore City Pay Scales Increased

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 (AP)—Hourly pay increases of between 15 and 20 per cent were adopted today for construction workers on city contracts.

A 1954 ordinance requires contractors to pay at least the prevailing wages in the Baltimore area.

A consulting firm making a survey for the first time since city wage scales were last revised in 1953 recommended increases. The Board of Estimates accepted them.

The proposed scales would range from a minimum of $1.90 an hour for unskilled labor to $3.70 an hour for bricklayers on structures. The present scale for those classes is $1.49 and $3.20.

India Report Newsman Finds Answer To Red Success In Kerala

Editor's Note: For the first time a state in India is governed by Communists. How did it happen? What have the Communists done during their first few months in power? To get the answers, an Associated Press correspondent made a two-week, 600-mile tour by automobile through the state of Kerala.

By CHARLES C. LANE
TRIVANDRUM, India, Aug. 28.—The Communists won control of the state of Kerala in a free election.

They staged no coup, no military push.

They clung closely to the state within-the-law strategy of India's Communist party.

How were they able, then, to take over this state? Part of the answer lies in the upsurge of Communist votes throughout India in the general election last March.

Although Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party won heavy majorities in the New Delhi parliament and the state governments other than Kerala's, the Communists polled 11,167,310 votes compared with their 3,484,401 in 1952.

The rest of the answer lies in Kerala itself—overcrowded, poor, short on food, facing mounting unemployment.

Kerala occupies 15,530 square miles in the southwest corner of India. It is about twice the size of New Jersey. Only 5,000 square miles of Kerala are arable and inhabitable.

The state's population of 15 million exerts a tremendous pressure on the land. The per capita farm income is only 120 rupees ($24) a year.

The government estimates 110,000 persons join the unemployed ranks each year.

Many of the unemployed are well educated, which adds to their bitterness and makes them a highly explosive political element.

In addition the Communists are well organized.

In 1952, the Reds polled 17 per cent of the votes. Last March they doubled that percentage. Although the Congress party won slightly more votes, their drawing power was so scattered that they took only 43 seats in the Kerala assembly while the Reds won 60.

With the support of five independents elected with Communist help, the Reds gained a majority and took over the government.

Since then, the Communists have confused, neutralized and in some places, paralyzed the police. Now they have moved to take over schools.

The government has instructed police not to interfere with union demonstrations on tea plantations, in factories or in schools unless murder, arson or banditry is committed. The result has been a field day for Red agitators.

While the Catholic Church and some big tea planters have not hesitated to make charges, the little man is often too scared. He wants to keep his job, to keep from getting beaten.

As one owner of a small rice paddy told me: "The constitution is up in Delhi. We are here."

In villages, the law is tending to slip into the hands of unofficial Communist committees acting virtually as summary courts.

Another signpost of the growing Communist power is in the government proposed education bill. If passed in present form it will give the government power to take over any state-aided private school that the government considers mismanaged. The teachers are to be chosen from a government-constituted panel.

Negro Teachers Hired For Jobs In Levittown

LEVITTOWN, Pa., Aug. 28.—School authorities disclosed yesterday that the first Negro teachers—a man and a woman—have been hired for jobs in this young, rapidly developed town where violence flared recently over the arrival of the first Negro family.

One teacher has been assigned to the new James Buchanan Elementary School, on Haines Road, in the area where crowds gathered for nine straight nights protesting the coming of William Myers, 32, and his family. The Myers are the only Negroes in this sprawling development where between 55,000 and 60,000 people live in somewhat more than 15,000 houses.

The Buchanan school will be opened Sept. 16. It will serve the Dogwood Hollow section, scene of the demonstrations earlier this month, and also Bloomsdale Gardens, an area of Bristol Township outside Levittown. The Myers' family formerly lived there. The Myers have three children, none of school age.

The second Negro teacher goes to William Penn Junior High School, which is scheduled to open Sept. 5.

Dr. Guy F. Eberhart, regional superintendent of Bristol Township schools, said the appointments were made in July and announced at a school board meeting yesterday. He said the names of the two new teachers will not be made known until official opening of the schools Sept. 5. This, he told newsmen, is in line with long-standing custom.

Dr. Eberhart said the appointments "have absolutely no connection" with the Myers family's moving to Levittown.

The Myers family, has been in its ranch style home for a little more than a week. State police, sent by Gov. George M. Leader to help keep order, remain on duty, continually patrolling the previously troubled area.

State and local police said the scene has been calm since last Wednesday.

The first and only ship in the United States Navy ever named for a woman was called the Harriet Lane. She was the niece of President Buchanan.

WMBA Game Time Is Changed

The annual Calcutta Sweepstakes of the Western Maryland Bridge Association will begin at 7:30 p. m. tonight instead of 8 p. m. at the Woman's Civic Club House instead of the Cumberland Country Club, Albert D. Heacox, president, announces.

There are 33 teams registered to play in tonight's game and they are requested to be on time. Mrs. Morris Barnes and Mrs. William Torkington with a score of 43 plus were winners of the special game of the Potomac Valley Bridge Club played Tuesday at the Woman's Civic Club.

Twenty-four boards were in play with a top of 3 on each board and an average of 36.

Mrs. Ralph Nevy and Mrs. William Snyder were second place winners with a score of 42 plus; H. G. Shores and Harry Johnson, of Harrisburg were third with a score of 41 plus and Mrs. Louis Waingold and Mrs. Loraine Eisenberg fourth with a score of 41.

NEW PARIS FASHIONS — Here are three creations for fall and winter from collection of Paris fashion designer Chanel. Left is suit of red and black thick tweed, with gold buttons, on top of a red jersey blouse. Center is light evening dress of yellow silk muslin with top trimmed with a garland of multicolored flowers and skirt draped by a clip of pearls and gold. Right is two-piece outfit of black and white thick tweed material trimmed with a white band.

Park Place WSCS Plans Fall Activities

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Park Place Methodist Church met recently at the church with Mrs. Herbert Cessna presiding. The meeting opened with the group singing "Jesus Is Calling." Mrs. Elizabeth Moody gave the prayer. Roll call was answered by 30 persons.

Routine reports were given. Thirty sick calls were made. A letter of appreciation was read from Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Curry of Tennessee for a card they received on their 62nd anniversary. Mrs. William Greer reported 108 keepsake plates had been sold.

Circle leaders reported eggless cake mixes and sheets are needed to send missionaries in Africa to help them with their work, and Mrs. Moody stated she had a shipment of hosiery ready to send to Japan.

It was announced that the seminar will be held at Grace Methodist Church September 18 at 9:15 a. m. and that Wednesday night prayers services will resume in September. Mrs. Elizabeth Moody will be in charge during the month of September. Mrs. Martha Bower and Mrs. Edward Chenoweth will make curtains for the choir loft. Rev.

Bruce Price reported on the new organ which will be purchased by the church and the society. The Mary Martha circle will hold a demonstration at the church September 5 at 7:30 p. m.

Rummage sales will be held by Electra Circle today at Shorter's Furniture Store, Centre Street; Queen Esther Circle, September 24 in basement of Centre Street Methodist Church and Mary Martha Circle on September 16.

Mrs. Herbert Cessna will be general chairman of the annual supper and bazar November 7 at LaVale Fire Hall. The society will serve the Methodist men's dinner September 27.

A book study on Japan beginning Friday, November 1, at Centre Street Methodist Church was announced. Mrs. Earl Sills spoke on missions and Miss Lois Plummer, student secretary discussed the duties of a good student secretary and read a poem, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" Mrs. Walter Bennett won the gift of the month, Mrs. Judith Short was received as a new member. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Moody on the topic Missionary Pilgrimage with the Scripture the Eighth Chapter of Psalms. The group sang "I Love To Tell The Story" and repeated the Lord's prayer.

Following the meeting and devotions a surprise stork shower was given for Mrs. Tyson Bruner. A "baby" theme was used in the decorations and favors. Mrs. Herbert Cessna baked the cake which was decorated with flowers and a small infant on top. Mrs. Edward Chenoweth decorated the cradle which held the gifts. The Mary Martha Circle was in charge of refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Poling have one grandchild, Holly Louise Underdonk.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Foot Care

The fastidious woman is never careless about such things as hair on her legs, but she may not be so smart about the care of her feet. And neglected feet can give you bad posture, an unhappy expression, backaches and any number of other unwanted ills—none of which go with charm, good looks or grace.

When your feet are tired, you naturally tend to drag them. This only makes you seem years older than you really are. A weekly pedicure can help remedy this.

After your bath is a good time for it. Keep a pumice near the tub and use after every bath to remove calluses and dry cuticle. Clip your nails straight across—never shape them like you do your fingertips!

Weak Feet

Perhaps you have weak feet; this you can be sure of when every shoe hurts. The one simple exercise which will help is very easy to do. Simply kick off your shoes and sit with your knees crossed. Concentrating on the elevated foot, "count" with the toes—point each one downward in turn. You may have difficulty getting some to budge, but patient practice will get them to limber up enough to be able to repeat this exercise 10 times. Then, point the foot toward the floor, clench the toes and hold. Bend the ankle upward, hold and relax. Repeat 5 times in each direction.

Khrushchev Calls Malenkov 'Shadow And Tool' Of Beria

By STERLING SLAPPEY
MOSCOW, Aug. 28 (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev calls Georgi Malenkov a "shadow and tool" of Lavrenty P. Beria in an article published today in the magazine Kommunist.

Beria was the former secret police chief executed as a traitor in 1953.

The words of Khrushchev, the Communist party boss, constitute the stiffest Soviet denunciation yet of Malenkov, disgraced former premier who has been reported sent to central Asia as director of the power station at the town of Ust. Kamenogorsk.

Khrushchev declared Malenkov took advantage of Joseph Stalin in Stalin's last years and prompted the dictator to do many things which now warrant denunciation.

Elsewhere in the piece, Khrushchev reiterated Russia's revolutionary aim in world politics. He said: "We regard it as our mission to reform the world and to build a Communist society."

The Communist article consisted of excerpts from three previously unpublished speeches Khrushchev made since May. It touched on a whole array of subjects—including agriculture, housing, literature and political affairs.

Khrushchev asserted Malenkov was completely under the influence of Beria, that he was "Beria's shadow and a tool in his hands."

He said that, though Stalin made "gross and grave mistakes," he nevertheless did much good for the Soviet Union and the Communist movement.

"Though Malenkov occupied a high position in the party and government he not only did not restrain Stalin but very skillfully took advantage of Stalin's weaknesses and habits in the last years of his life. In many cases he incited him to take action which was deserving of stern condemnation."

Beria had supervisory powers over the police part of the time during Stalin's last years. After Stalin's death he became formal police head as minister of internal affairs but was purged in June 1953 while Malenkov was premier. He died before a firing squad in December.

Stiles Family Entries Win Timonium Jersey Honors

TIMONIUM, Md., Aug. 28 (AP)—The Stiles family from Mt. Airy and Boonsboro swept all honors in the 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America Jersey breed dairy cattle judging at the Maryland State Fair yesterday.

Howard Stiles of Mt. Airy, Frederick County, with his Beau Vol Dewdrop, was the senior champion and the grand champion in the Jersey class and also exhibited the winner in the division for cows three years and over.

Howard's brother, Clifford, also took home three titles—junior calf heifer, junior yearling heifer and senior yearling heifer. Their sister, Charlotte, won the blue ribbon for cows two years old but under three.

Nathan Stiles, a cousin from Boonsboro, Washington County, exhibited the junior class champion, Wonderful Dream Judith.

In addition to the winners, another sister of Howard, a brother of Nathan, and six cousins from Montgomery and Howard counties had entries in the division.

The attendance yesterday included 11,629 at the fair and 6,187 at the horse racing for a total of 17,816 as compared to the 15,018 for the second day of the fair last year.

Maryland Coal Output Best Since 1949

Production of coal in Maryland during 1956 was the highest since 1949, according to the annual report of the Maryland Bureau of Mines just released by Frank T. Powers, director.

The state's tonnage of 647,409 was aided by a marked increase in Garrett County production, but was hampered by a decrease in Allegany County.

Garrett County's deep and strip mines shipped 475,846 tons, as compared to Allegany's 175,563.

Last year tonnage in the two counties hit 623,905, of which 324,894 was from Garrett County and 199,102 from Allegany County.

The report shows that the mining of fire clay in the two counties was up, 62,389 for 1956, and 57,434 in 1955.

However, employment in the two counties showed slight decreases in the mining industry. Garrett County's total dropped from 452 in 1955 to 441 in 1956. Allegany's went from 297 in 1955 to 293 in 1956.

Nearly half of Garrett County's production, or 224,771 tons, was from strip mines. Allegany's strip mines produced 73,412.

Machine-mined coal totaled

25,586 tons in Allegany County, and 168,429 in Garrett County.

Pick-mined coal amounted to 76,565 tons in Allegany County, and 78,646 tons in Garrett County.

The annual report revealed that 24 permits were issued to strip mining operators under the terms of the new law that went into effect on June 1, 1955.

Powers reported that during the year nine safety orders were issued by district mine inspectors of the Bureau of Mines.

Three of the safety orders resulted in unsafe mines being closed.

In six other instances, the orders were complied with and the mines reopened.

He also said that during the year, it was necessary to obtain warrants against operators, due to violations of the Maryland Mining Laws.

The warrants were obtained for failure of the operators to make required reports to the Bureau of Mines. They were ordered to pay fines and costs, and upon payment of costs, the fine was suspended when they made necessary reports.

Powers said there were no

Events Planned For Season By LaSalle Men

The Men of LaSalle have outlined a tentative schedule for activities and appointed committee workers for the coming school year.

The September meeting of the organization will feature a father-son get-together to welcome the new students entering LaSalle. Refreshments will be served and entertainment will be provided.

On October 11 and 12 a homecoming will be held by the club in conjunction with the Golden Jubilee celebration of the school.

The club's annual stage production will be presented October 12, 13 and 14 to tie in with the homecoming. The title of this year's show is "School Daze."

The Men of LaSalle will hold a pep rally on November 27 and Thanksgiving Day dance in honor of the football team. Happy Laughner's orchestra from Youngstown will provide music for the dance.

The club's annual communion breakfast has been scheduled for May at which time the Catholic Layman of the Year award will be presented.

The club's meetings will be held on the third Tuesday of each month.

Committees for the year follow:

Homecoming, Edward Neus, chairman; Norman Geatz, Paul Stakem Jr., George Lovenstein, John O'Donnell, Edward McGraw and Casper Taylor Jr.; membership, John Hodel, chairman; John Collins, Valentine Lydinger, John Long, Thomas Cumiskey, Gerald Deffenbaugh, James Stutcher, Joseph DiGilaro, William Staarman and Emmett Dougherty.

Tickets, Valentine Lydinger, chairman; James Stutcher, Gerald Deffenbaugh, John Hodel, J. A. Blake and Emmett Dougherty; publicity, Thomas Strutz, chairman; John O'Donnell, Paul Stakem Jr., William Kelly, William Becker, Matthew Coffey.

Minstrel, John O'Donnell and Paul Stakem Jr., co-chairman; Edward Neus and Patrick Farrell, and entertainment, Norman Geatz, Van Parsons Sr., and James Miller.

Aid To Commuters

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—A new innovation by the New York Central Railroad enables commuters to buy ticket books under a pay-by-mail plan. The purpose is to save the commuters time otherwise wasted standing in lines at ticket windows.

Checks totaling $19,174 were prepared for the various incorporated communities from the tax levy for road work.

The City of Cumberland will receive $7,630; Frostburg, $2,660; Lonaconing, $2,884; Westernport, $2,020; Barton $1,240; Luke, $1,900 and Midland $840.

A check for $500 was prepared for the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association from the contributions fund.

Lakes Below Crest

C. L. Brotenarkle, assistant superintendent of Evitts Creek Water Company, reported to the Mayor and Council that water level at Lake Gordon is one foot two inches below the crest of the spillway and in Lake Koon seven feet six inches below. Consumption for the week ending yesterday was 80,250,000 gallons compared to 85,970,000 the same period a year ago.

Special Clinic Here On Polio Is Successful

The special polio evaluation clinic held here Monday and Tuesday has been hailed by Western Maryland March of Dimes officials as an important step in helping many polio victims to lead fuller, more useful lives.

Some 50 persons from Allegany and Garrett counties were examined at the clinic, sponsored jointly by the Allegany-Garrett chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the Allegany-Garrett Medical Society.

John Robb, chairman of the local polio group, joined Mrs. William Harmon, chairman of the Garrett County Chapter, in expressing satisfaction at the preliminary results of the evaluation clinic. These findings, Robb and Mrs. Harmon said, showed that a number of post-polio in the two counties can be helped by the latest advances in rehabilitative medicine. Formal medical recommendations will be available in about two weeks, they explained.

The March of Dimes leaders also praised the members of the medical evaluation team and the officials of the Maryland Office of Vocational Rehabilitation who assisted at the clinic.

These included Dr. William Loesser, medical director of the Respiratory and Rehabilitation Center at Buffalo University School of Medicine; Dr. Florence Mahoney, director of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at the state's Chronic Illness Hospital; Margaret Poole, physical therapist of the Allegany County Crippled Children's League; and Dorothea Barthel of Montebello. Counselors John Coburn and Edward Shucks represented the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Drs. Loesser and Mahoney also expressed satisfaction over the clinic program here. They commented on several recommendations which they felt could result in substantial rehabilitation for the patients involved—one for a portable wheelchair to free a young man from home confinement and another which could bring the benefits of a rehabilitation center to a crippled youngster.

Both doctors called attention to the fact that the majority of the patients attending this clinic showed the results of excellent post-polio care. They termed this a tribute to the care of the county orthopedic follow-up clinics of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children and the physicians of Western Maryland.

The Cumberland evaluation clinic was the second held in Maryland this summer as part of a nationwide March of Dimes program to insure maximum rehabilitation for all polio victims.

Other evaluation clinics are being considered for later this year in Carroll, Frederick and Montgomery counties and for the Cecil-Kent-Queen Anne County area. National Foundation officials estimate that more than 2,000 polio cases will be evaluated across the state during the remainder of 1957.

New Board Member Pays Official Visit

The newest member of the Allegany County Board of Education yesterday paid her first official visit to the board office.

Mrs. L. Brooks Starcher, 557 Patterson Avenue, conferred with Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, who briefed her on her duties as a board member.

Mrs. Starcher received her oath of office yesterday from Clerk of Circuit Court Joseph E. Boden.

TRAINING—James R. Brant Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Brant Sr., 517 Forster Avenue, who enlisted in the US Air Force at the recruiting station here several weeks ago, is taking his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. He is a member of the 3275th Technical Training Group and is undergoing training for the Air Police. He is a June graduate of Fort Hill High School.

County Fire Groups Get Annual Funds

Checks were prepared yesterday at the Allegany County Board of Commissioners office for the annual distribution of funds to 23 volunteer fire companies in the county and also to the incorporated communities.

A total of $22,025 is being allotted to the fire companies. These funds are set aside by law and the amounts vary according to the fire companies involved.

The Frostburg Volunteer Fire Company gets $1,772.40; Goodwill Fire Company of Lonaconing, $1,494.40; Potomac Fire Company of Westernport, $1,520.80; Cresaptown, Midland, Mt. Savage, and Barton fire companies each get $1,077.50; LaVale Volunteer Fire Company, $1,227.50; Luke, $1,977.70.

Borden Shaft, McCoolle, Corriantville Baltimore Pike Bowman's Addition, Clarysville, Bedford Road, Flintstone, District 16 at North Branch, Ellerslie and Bowling Green each receive $834.40 while token payments of $150 each are given to Chapel Hill Hose Company No. 6 and Cumberland Hose Company No. 1 in Cumberland. These two units are no longer active but they maintain buildings.

Checks totaling $19,174 were prepared for the various incorporated communities from the tax levy for road work.

The City of Cumberland will receive $7,630; Frostburg, $2,660; Lonaconing, $2,884; Westernport, $2,020; Barton $1,240; Luke, $1,900 and Midland $840.

A check for $500 was prepared for the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association from the contributions fund.

County Fire Groups Get Annual Funds

Checks were prepared yesterday at the Allegany County Board of Commissioners office for the annual distribution of funds to 23 volunteer fire companies in the county and also to the incorporated communities.

A total of $22,025 is being allotted to the fire companies. These funds are set aside by law and the amounts vary according to the fire companies involved.

The Frostburg Volunteer Fire Company gets $1,772.40; Goodwill Fire Company of Lonaconing, $1,494.40; Potomac Fire Company of Westernport, $1,520.80; Cresaptown, Midland, Mt. Savage, and Barton fire companies each get $1,077.50; LaVale Volunteer Fire Company, $1,227.50; Luke, $1,977.70.

Borden Shaft, McCoolle, Corriantville Baltimore Pike Bowman's Addition, Clarysville, Bedford Road, Flintstone, District 16 at North Branch, Ellerslie and Bowling Green each receive $834.40 while token payments of $150 each are given to Chapel Hill Hose Company No. 6 and Cumberland Hose Company No. 1 in Cumberland. These two units are no longer active but they maintain buildings.

Checks totaling $19,174 were prepared for the various incorporated communities from the tax levy for road work.

The City of Cumberland will receive $7,630; Frostburg, $2,660; Lonaconing, $2,884; Westernport, $2,020; Barton $1,240; Luke, $1,900 and Midland $840.

A check for $500 was prepared for the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association from the contributions fund.

Lakes Below Crest

C. L. Brotenarkle, assistant superintendent of Evitts Creek Water Company, reported to the Mayor and Council that water level at Lake Gordon is one foot two inches below the crest of the spillway and in Lake Koon seven feet six inches below. Consumption for the week ending yesterday was 80,250,000 gallons compared to 85,970,000 the same period a year ago.

ASSIGNED TO SCHOOL — Airman Donald W. Tipton Jr., 229 Carroll Street, has been assigned to Aircraft Reciprocating Engine Mechanic School at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas. A June graduate of Allegany High School, the young man enlisted at the local Air Force Station on June 12. He took his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, near San Antonio and qualified for special technical training.

Man Is Awarded $5,000 For Eye Loss

The State Industrial Accident Commission has awarded a Mt. Savage man permanent disability payments of $25 weekly for 200 weeks for the loss of his sight in one eye.

He is William Spriggs, whose eye was injured last year while at work for the Consolidated Engineering Company, Inc., during construction at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant.

Milton Gerson, his attorney, said Spriggs was working in a ditch when something flew up into his eye.

The award notice was signed by R. Duncan Clark, commissioner for the SIAC.

Optimist Club Names Winners Of Contest

Winners of the recent contest co-sponsored by the Cumberland and Bedford Road Optimist clubs have been announced.

Increase Is Noted In Building Permits

Seventeen permits were issued this month by the city building engineer's office with an estimated value of $139,600.

Nine of the permits were for new construction and brought the accumulative total for the eight months to $844,716. This compares to $1,113,250 during the same period a year ago.

Last month, permits totalling $55,550 were issued while in August a year ago the sum was $76,150.

Hagerstown Group Files Protest Against Canal Parkway Plan

HAGERSTOWN — Headed by the Hagerstown Chamber of Commerce, five Washington County organizations and one state-wide group have filed a strong protest against twin bills that would establish along the entire 165-mile-long Chesapeake & Ohio Canal route a national historic park.

In a petition and later a telegram addressed to each member of the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, the local Chamber seeks to have stopped the enactment of two bills — one introduced in the U. S. Senate by Senator J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, and in the House of Representatives by DeWitt Hyde, who represents this the Sixth Maryland District.

Concurring in the protest are the Farm Bureau of Washington County, Pomona Grange of Washington County, the Council of Washington County Conservation Clubs and the Izaak Walton League of America Washington County Chapter, and the League of Maryland Sportsmen.

The letter accompanying the petition, and signed by Frank C. Wachter, chairman of the C. & O. Canal Committee, Hagerstown Chamber of Commerce, says that "while we deem it beyond our province to oppose the objective of the bills outside our own county, and do not do so, we emphatically oppose it within our county, and we suggest that authorization to develop the entire land strip as a federal park should not be granted prior to consideration of the U. S. Engineers and Maryland Legislative Committee studies now in progress. It is further suggested that demonstrable multi-use requirements in the large area of Maryland that would be affected indicate the desirability of an ultimate dispersal of title to parts of the Canal among federal, state and private owners.

"The statement touches only briefly upon the major consideration that should be developed fully by thorough study. The studies above mentioned will be of considerable value in this regard."

It was also learned that when the local Chamber became aware of the introduction of the twin measures in Congress by Senator Beall and Rep. Hyde, it asked for a hearing before the full committee considering the measures, but Chairman Wachter was informed that time was too short before the scheduled adjournment of Congress, that a statement of the Chamber's position be filed instead. This the Chamber did under date of August 10, 1957.

Then last Tuesday, Aug. 20, ten days after the statement was sent, the Chamber read where the Senate Committee considering Bill S. 77 (Canal Park Bill) had handed down a favorable report, which is considered tantamount to its final approval.

It was then that the Chamber dispatched this telegram to every member of the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, under the name of Chairman Wachter of the Chamber:

"Am disappointed that your Committee on Interior has reported favorably Senate Seventy-Seven Chesapeake & Ohio Canal Bill without face to face consideration and discussion of the vigorous opposition of the Hagerstown Chamber of Commerce and other organizations. We have not and shall not withdraw our opposition to this bill that seriously damages a large part of our state and takes from it the use of over two-thirds of the Potomac River above Washington, nor will the opposition of others change. Hope you will see that this bill will be held on call until you have more opportunity to study and hear our case before vote on the floor or preferably that the bill be recommitted to the Interior Committee for such purpose."

In its previous opposition to legislation introduced by Senator Beall and Rep. Hyde which would have approved the construction of a scenic highway from Washington, D. C., to Cumberland, Md., the Chamber and other organizations had cited the many fine industrial sites bordering the Potomac River on the Maryland side that might be jeopardized if the federal government acquired jurisdiction of the entire 165-mile-long stretch of the C. & O. Canal route.

Washington County has more frontage on the Potomac River than any other county in Maryland. Those who have visited the route of the old Canal say that some of the finest industrial sites in the East are along the Potomac in this county. The Chamber is anxious that these sites be protected against Federal encroachment.

The local Chamber is not opposed to the establishment of historic parks and recreational areas along the Canal route, but it does not want the entire 165 miles in parks. The Chamber also wants the State of Maryland to hold title to some of this land, as well as private ownership of other sections. If an industry wants to acquire land, it should be permitted to do so and that industry should have certain rights, without any red-tape to have access to the river.

The local Chamber makes it very clear that it is talking about Washington County frontage on the Potomac River, and not the frontage of other counties, including Allegany, Frederick and Montgomery Counties.

New Freeway Will Include One Toll Bridge

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 (P)—The State Roads Commission said today that the proposed Northeastern Expressway, although to be a freeway, will include a toll bridge about midway of its 56-mile length.

The announcement two weeks ago that the road would be a freeway did not mention the bridge. SRC spokesmen said today they thought this was so clearly understood there was no reason for pointing up the prospective toll bridge.

Because most of the expressway is included in the federal government's interstate highway system, Maryland expects to get federal aid equal to about 90 per cent of the road's 76 million dollar cost. The bridge, as a toll facility, is not eligible for federal aid.

The proposed expressway, to roughly parallel U.S. 40 between here and the Delaware State line, will give motorists a continuous stretch of limited-access highway between New York and Washington.

SRC Chairman Robert O. Bonnell said today there are too many details to be settled to make an exact estimate on when the first contract will be let. Bonnell said last month that construction might be started next year.

BELGIAN TOWN ENACTS PLAY OF THE HOLY BLOOD

EVERY FIVE YEARS, two thousand townspeople of Bruges, Belgium, enact the Play of the Holy Blood for 10 performances in the medieval market square, which, with the soaring belfry, is incorporated in the scenery of an immense outdoor stage. These photos were made at this year's showing, with the next presentation set for August, 1962. It was attended by 100,000 persons, with thousands turned away to hear the music and songs from a distance. At left, the play is in progress. At top, right, Anton Van de Velde, director of the play, manipulates his rheostats backstage. Bottom, right, is a closeup of the crowd. The play of the Holy Blood (Sanguis Christi) was begun in 1938 and uses only residents of the town for the cast. When a player masters a role, he continues to play it.

Hope Natural Gas Rates Rise Today

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 28 (P)—Customers of Hope Natural Gas Co. in West Virginia will start paying tomorrow about $1.38 more per month for gas.

Under state law, Hope can begin charging higher rates which it has requested, even though the Public Service Commission has not yet issued a final order in the case.

The increase, which will bring in about $2,300,000 more per year, will go into effect under bond. Hope must refund whatever portion of the increase the PSC fails to grant, plus 6 per cent interest.

Affected will be Hope's more than 89,000 customers in the Clarksburg, Morgantown, Fairmont and Parkersburg areas of the state.

Widow Commits 'Automobile Suicide'

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (P)—An unemployed widow was killed today, police said, after she blindfolded herself with a scarf, smashed her car into a series of obstructions and then fell under the wheels of her own vehicle.

The coroner's office listed the death of Mrs. Kathryn Dawson, 52, of suburban Homewood, as "automobile suicide."

A note found in the woman's wallet listed a funeral home where her body was to be taken, police said. The note added: "They are authorized to cremate me. No one else will be paid the cost of my passing away."

Slain Girl's Friend Gives Police Lead

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (P)—Slain Judith Mae Andersen's best friend said today during a lie detector test that she knew someone "who might want to harm Judy."

This was revealed by Chief of Detectives Patrick Deeley as Judy's friend, Elena Abbatacola, 15, and four of her brothers volunteered for the tests to "clear the family of any suspicion."

The two girls spent several hours together the night Judith Mae disappeared.

Elena and two of the brothers were termed cleared by police after undergoing the examinations. The two other brothers followed them into the examination room.

Deeley would not identify any person named by the Abbatacola girl as wanting to harm 15-year-old Judith Mae, whose body was found shot and hacked to pieces last week.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(INS)—The current issue of Life magazine, with its superb pictures of fabled and remote San Simeon, built by the late W. R. Hearst Sr., recalls a pleasant trip there near the end of the war. I was one of his obscure workers, but he received us as if he had waited some time for the pleasure. My wife and I were struck dumb by the splendor of the place—which Life's cameras have caught with imagination and vigor.

What the cameras couldn't catch, of course, was the man who is gone. He was much taller than we expected, and though he was an old man at the time he moved with the action of one who had been able to play good tennis into his seventies. We were prepared for something explosive in the way of the prototype of a publishing tycoon. Instead, his voice was soft, his manner shy, his whole attitude one of almost deference to a casual visitor's small wishes. He called me mister.

Once during the stay, as he worked in silence over a story that had come in on his private wire, he looked up and I asked him what he saw in the future for the daily American press.

"More and more mechanization," Hearst said, as one who had given the question much thought. "Better presses, for one thing, and much more use of color. If a merchant wishes to sell yellow dresses he'll advertise them in their natural color, not in black and white."

"I'm interested in those 'walkie-talkies' the troops use overseas. When they're available to the public, we'll have them in cars and carried by reporters themselves. A man covering a story in, say, the middle of Central Park will be able to radio it to the city desk and not have to search about for a telephone. (Ed. note: Radio cars are standard equipment with most metropolitan newspapers now.)

"But nobody is ever going to invent a machine to take the place of the writer, the good writer," Hearst said. "He'll always be with us. War, rising production costs, paper shortages, and a better appreciation of the limited time people have at their disposal, will combine to improve the writing in the papers. Stories should be shorter, move fast with the times, be intelligently edited in the manner of Reader's Digest and Time."

Whittaker Chambers is back in the news. He has recovered sufficiently from his series of heart attacks to accept a post as European observer for "National Review," a magazine somewhat to the right of right field. Chambers once was a Communist who served as a courier running secrets out of Washington. His testimony that Alger Hiss was one of his informants created one of the major court cases and political crises of its time.

The Hiss case might have died with little furor, save for a strange happening. For a long time after the original charge was hurled, Chambers insisted to the House Un-American Activities Committee that he had no documentary proof. Then he unexpectedly yielded the first of the documents he had secretly saved through the years. He gave them up (after 24 hours of sleepless meditation, he later wrote) because in a pre-trial examination of Mrs. Chambers—who had accidentally struck a pedestrian while driving to the Hiss attorney's office—the attorney accused Chambers of being a homosexual. Mrs. Chambers arrived back at their Maryland farm in a state of extreme mental stress. So he produced letters and memos from Hiss' office, and later, upon further prodding, the "pumpkin papers."

I had to read the story twice, before cancelling a telegram of thanks I was about to send to Sen. Lyndon Johnson for personally putting up that extra $500,000 the President wanted for his foreign aid program. I thought that, as a Texan, he was prepared to take it out of his petty cash box. But it seems now that somebody else will get it up. You.

Fair Attracted 50,000 Persons

An estimated 50,000 persons visited the Cumberland Fair last week with the paid attendance totaling 17,389 persons. Children under 12 years of age were admitted free.

Fair Association officials said the task of cleaning up the grounds was started yesterday and will take some time.

The carnival moved out early Tuesday and practically all the exhibits have been removed from the exhibition halls and grounds.

Reuther Proposal: Propaganda Talk?

Sometimes a polite answer doesn't turn away wrath. For example, take the reply made by President Curtice of General Motors—which was seconded by the heads of Ford and Chrysler—to the proposal made by Walter Reuther, United Auto workers president, that the "Big Three" in the motor industry reduce prices on 1958 cars by $100 a unit.

Curtice's polite letter has been interpreted by Reuther as an "arbitrary rejection."

In a way it's understandable that Reuther should take umbrage at the answer he received, for what he got back was as good as he sent. The rejection was implied rather than stated—Curtice noted that prices of the company's products were not a proper subject for collective bargaining, and explained why—but the letter made a counter-suggestion that neatly capped the Reuther proposal.

What Reuther had proposed was that the "Big Three" reduce prices on their 1958 cars by $100 each as a means of fighting inflation. The Reuther proposal contained no commitment limiting the union's freedom of action in the slightest.

Curtice's suggestion was that the union extend its contract for two years as a "contribution to economic stability." Such a decision, he said, would "have a most constructive effect, even beyond our industry." He pointed out that the contract contains cost-of-living and improvement factor clauses, so the workers' pay levels would be protected.

Unless Reuther is prepared to get down to cases, he will be suspected of talking for propaganda purposes only.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Teachers

I read a letter, published in a newspaper, in which a reader makes the point that in New Jersey, where he lives, the legal minimum for a school teacher is set by law at $3,800 annually, which is a gross of $73 a week, after which she has to pay federal income taxes and such state taxes as there are. Certain other advantages are indicated, such as a pension fund to which the state contributes $600 and a $200 raise each year.

The trouble with the glorified picture of the teacher's life is that if the young lady has any brains she can earn more than that in all sorts of private industries with better financial and social opportunities. Also she will not have to take home a wad of compositions or examination papers to correct.

Therefore the pay is not an attraction nor is the long summer vacation, part of which often must be spent at summer sessions at some college, at the teacher's expense, getting points for a higher degree without which there is no longer any advantage in any of the cultural professions.

The mathematician who wrote this letter to the newspaper makes this point:

"Let us examine what the Legislature did by passing the teacher's union law. Six hours per day times 180 days per year gives 1080 hours. $4,400 divided by 1080 gives a nominal guaranteed minimum of over $4.05 per hour. After 10 years a teacher of 31 years of age makes approximately $6,400, corresponding to a guaranteed $5.90 per hour. Compare this with the federal $1 an hour minimum wage limit."

He is either a bachelor or a comptometer. Certainly, he knows nothing about teaching and how much it takes to cram even a little knowledge into the heads of say 30 brats who can think of so many better things to do than to discover the eternal verity that two plus two equals four, or the mechanical truth that spelling is an aid to writing and that in this country everybody at some time must write even if it is nothing more than a sales check or an address on an envelope.

The teacher trims the wick so that the lamp may shine, a metaphor which will probably not be understood in this era when to have light one does nothing more than flick a switch. Six hours a day of teaching is tough going for a teacher even with a break for lunch. No professor in a university could carry a schedule of such dimensions and not crack under it both mentally and physically.

Of course, it is easier for a butcher or a grocer to run even eight or ten hours a day. He only argues with customers; a teacher has to discover what is in the mind of the rebellious creature, the child, whose imagination runs away with him and who tries every trick in the bag to discover which will work. The smarter the child, the more he flexes his imagination and tries the patience of the teacher.

A lady writes to me that I am wasting my time sympathizing with teachers; they are well paid and "the majority of them are married to men with very good salaries." The issue is not whether the teacher's husband gets a good salary, if she has a husband. The issue is does this particular teacher have the gift of penetrating a resistant mind, of planting the seed of knowledge, of encouraging a desire to learn, of forming character and inspiring ambition.

When it is complained that the present crop of, let us say, high school graduates cannot read, spell, write or count, know nothing about their country and can only recite the biographies of movie stars with emphasis on their multiple marriages and sex pécadillos, then the school system has failed and needs a total overhauling.

So if the school system has gone awry with ideas of so-called progressive education and its various modifications, then that should be corrected. However, the education of your child is most important during the earliest years of its life. Kindergarten and the first three grades is where the job has to be done and that is where the most inspired and the most inspirational teachers need to be. That is where the child must learn to love going to school.

The Miracle In Germany And What It Means

By Joseph Alsop

BONN, Germany

The currency crisis in France and Britain, with its resulting pressure on Germans to revalue their mark upwards, is an amazing sign of the times. Serious as the crisis seems, moreover, it is far less fundamentally significant than the development it has dramatized.

This development is nothing more nor less than the re-emergence of so-lately ruined Germany as a major power in the world. The excessive strength of the German mark on the world markets, the increasing weakness of British sterling and the French franc are symbols of a radical change in all the power relationships on this side of the Atlantic Ocean.

No adjectives seem adequate to describe the change in Germany which has produced this change in power relationships. When this reporter was last here, five years ago, the rubble had been tidied. Production had begun again. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer had established a respected government. But the occupation had not yet been liquidated. Defeated Germany was still in bonds. The High Commissioners of the victorious Allies were still playing at being viceroys.

A healthy, independent Germany then seemed possible and even highly likely. But nothing seemed more absolutely beyond the bounds of possibility than Germany's re-emergence as the real heavyweight in the world balance of power.

The figures tell the story in their blunt, bleak way. Starting with nothing, the German Treasury now has total reserves above five million dollars, of which more than three and a half billion are in hard currency. Last year Germany enjoyed a favorable trade balance of more than one billion dollars. This year's outlook is as good or better.

Headaches: As Many Causes As Remedies

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There are many headache remedies but some are useless unless the exact cause is known. Headache may be due to fatigue, overindulgence, high blood pressure, poor vision, neuralgia, sinusitis, or other causes.

Many are blamed on allergy but it is doubtful whether as much as 10 per cent are traceable to this origin. In this condition, discomfort follows eating an allergen such as pork, corn, milk, or chocolate. An elimination diet is utilized to uncover the culprit. Thereafter, the offending food should be omitted from the menu.

Many of the most distressing headaches are of vascular origin. Pain stems from dilatation or constriction of the blood vessels in the brain. The victim tends to be a perfectionist who is continually worried and tense. These people develop headache when they are overworked, tired, disappointed, frustrated, or emotionally upset.

Migraine is one of the various types of vascular headache. It is more common in women and may be associated with menstruation or tension. Pain is throbbing in nature, is confined to one side of the head, and usually persists for several hours or days. It comes and goes at intervals, varying from a few weeks to months.

These are the headaches that run in families. During the attack the sufferer is nauseated and wants to go to bed, with blinds drawn, and sleep it off. Remedies include nicotinic acid, cafergot, DHE-45, gynergen, valocetin, and ocetin.

Histaminic cephalalgia, another kind of vascular headache, results from overproduction by the body of histamine. This chemical is a powerful dilator of blood vessels. Distress occurs on one side of the head and is associated with congestion of the eye and nose on that side.

The temporal vessels stand out and the skin is flushed and warm. Pain, described as boring in nature, is excruciating and more severe, when reclining. It begins and ends suddenly and is of short duration. Many of the medications used in migraine also are of value in histaminic cephalalgia.

Tension headache generally is localized and is less severe than the other kinds. It is dull and comes on at night, usually following a day of tension. Men and women who do not know how to relax are more susceptible. Relief follows rest, together with the application of a hot water bag and the use of aspirin or a sedative.

Determined Lady Senator Victor In Lengthy Battle With Air Force

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, only lady Senator, has now won her battle with the Air Force.

She has blocked the promotion of Air Force glamor boy Jimmy Stewart, who played the part of Lindbergh in "The Spirit Of St. Louis" to be a brigadier general. She also blocked the promotion of John Montgomery, vice president of General Electric.

How she did it is a little-known story of one lady, plus a determined assistant, against the brass hats.

The backstage battle got rough at times. Air Force propagandists accused Mrs. Smith's assistant, Bill Lewis, of holding up other promotions because he was not promoted himself. They also put out stories that Mrs. Smith was irked because she wanted to be commander of the WAFs in time of war and the Air Force turned her down.

It was also intimated that Mrs. Smith wanted to extend her own reserve commission as a Colonel in the WAFs, which expires automatically December 14 when she reaches the age of sixty—first, because she didn't want her age known, and second, because she wanted continuing reservist pay. This was obviously erroneous because Mrs. Smith has made no secret about her age, spells it out in Who's Who for everyone to read.

Real fact is, that Senator Smith is the author of the Reserve Personnel Act, contends past wars have been won ninety per cent by the reserves, that their training in peacetime must be thorough.

Mrs. Smith Digs

So when the Air Force recommended eleven officers for promotion for brigadier or major generals, Mrs. Smith discovered they included big-shot executives who hadn't handled an airplane for years. She and her assistant did what the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has not done with ambassadors, such as Maxwell Gluck. She dug into the background of every officer.

In doing so, she caught the head of Air Force personnel, Lt. Gen. Emmett "Rosie" O'Donnell in many misstatements of fact and cracked down on him for waiting to change forty-three of the forty-nine pages of testimony in answer to Mrs. Smith; five of six pages in answer to Senator Barrett of Wyoming; and two out of four pages in answer to Chairman Russell of Georgia.

Mrs. Smith sent the testimony back telling O'Donnell to confine himself to editing for grammar, not change his answers.

During the course of the testimony, General O'Donnell bragged that he had kicked 68,000 men out of the reserves because their training wasn't good enough.

"In view of this severity," queried Senator Smith, "why are you promoting Brig. Gen. Robert L. Smith, whose record isn't good enough either?"

Lyndon's Friend

She referred to the good friend of Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas who is president of Pioneer Air Lines of Dallas. He had only one 15-day tour of duty in eight years, Mrs. Smith pointed out, in direct violation of Air Force Reserve requirements. General O'Donnell, however, tried to show that Mrs. Smith was wrong.

"Senator Smith," he flared up, "General Smith was on duty December 10 to December 31, 1956."

"I don't see that on the records supplied by the Air Force," commented Margaret.

"December 10 to December 31," emphasized O'Donnell with great vigor, implying that the lady Senator didn't know what she was talking about.

She did. He didn't. When the transcript of O'Donnell's testimony came back, he had deleted his answers. Mrs. Smith refused to allow the deletion.

Mrs. Smith pressed O'Donnell

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Many doctors who have been cigarette smokers still are despite the alleged dangers of the habit. How about your doctor? Dr. Charles W. Mayo, top man of the internationally celebrated Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minn., still smokes a pack of cigarettes a day. "I just don't believe smoking causes lung cancer," says Dr. Mayo.

SOME SEASON

In 1927 there were 268 legitimate stage attractions presented in New York City. That is the record for number of productions staged in Manhattan in one season. Among those were such hits as "Burlesque" with Hal Kelly and Barbara Stanwyck. "Coquette" with Helen Hayes. "The Barker" with Walter Huston and Claudette Colbert. "The Road To Rome" with Jane Cowl. "Paris Bound" with Madge Kennedy. "Her Cardboard Lover" with Jeanne Eagels and Leslie Howard. "The Shannons of Broadway" with James Gleason and Lucile Webster and the greatest musical comedy of them all, Jerome Kern's "Show Boat." Yes, sir, the theatregoers really had something to choose from that season. Were you there? If so, you will have no trouble getting into the young Old Timers Association.

ASIDES

As for a married couple named Adam and Eve, California which claims to have everything has such a wedded pair named Adam and Eve Soles of Santa Barbara, Calif. . . . It was Lord Chesterfield who said, "A difference of opinion, though in the merest trifles, alienates little minds." And Disraeli said, "I never argue with a man whose opinion I do not respect."

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Adolf Schaerf, president of the republic of Austria, lives in a $9.75-a-month apartment. The man at the next desk says he's willing to wager that Adolf ran for office on an economy-begins-at-home platform.

The state of Indiana, we read, will pay a $356,000 bill for engineering plans for a toll highway interchange that was never built. To Milt, the sterling printer, this sounds suspiciously like the road to the poorhouse.

RETIREMENT

Sixty-five is generally accepted as the age for retirement. There are, as recently stated here, 14,000,000 persons in the United States who are 65 or over. A book many of these oldsters might find interesting is Joseph Buckley's "Retirement Handbook." This highly informative work discusses 38 cities as possible places of pleasant retirement. Another interesting book on the same subject is titled "Where To Retire On A Small Income" by Norman Ford. Still another is titled "Should I Retire" by George Preston, M. D. These books are available at most public libraries and the better type of bookshops.

GOLF

How is your golf score, if any? How did you start learning to play the royal and ancient game? Best way is to work backwards. Learn to putt first. Then study the approach. Driving from the tee should come last.

SONG WRITING

A field in which there is currently considerable room for improvement is that of popular song writing. New writers are sadly needed in Tin Pan Alley. The situation may be relieved somewhat by a course in song writing to be given this Fall by Don Walker at the evening sessions of Hunter College, New York. That is certainly a step in the right direction. Perhaps Irving Berlin, Wolfie Gilbert, J. Fred Coots and a few more Tin Pan Alley veterans can be persuaded to give brief talks to the students.

Madison Avenue suddenly threw up a $50,000-a-year job and accepted the post of school teacher in his native Vermont village. "I quit," he explained, "when they wanted me to write stuff about a new hair tonic I wouldn't say about Abraham Lincoln!"

Giants Score 8 Runs In Third, Belt Milwaukee, 12-6

Final East Appearance For Braves

League Leaders Go To Cincinnati; 11,543 See Game

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP) — The New York Giants, who are going nowhere except to San Francisco at the end of the season, paraded eight runs across the plate in the third inning today and eventually emerged with a 12-6 decision over the pennant-hungry Milwaukee Braves.

It was the final Eastern appearance for Milwaukee this season, and the Braves headed for Cincinnati with five victories in their last eight games as the Giants belted four pitchers for 14 hits.

The victory gave the Giants a split in the two-game series, and although the Braves matched the Giants with 14 hits of their own, they left 14 runners stranded in the wild affair played before a crowd of 11,543.

Thirteen Giants came to the plate in the third, while seven hits rattled off the New York bats and sent Gene Conley, the Milwaukee starter, to the showers. There also were two walks, a double steal and two Milwaukee errors in this inning.

While the errors made five of the runs unearned, the hits all were on the solid side, and only Willie Mays failed to connect as he came up twice—popping out once and striking out to end the inning.

Conley, removed after working two and two-thirds innings, was charged with his seventh defeat against eight victories. Barclay got credit for the victory, which also gave him an 8-7 record for the year.

There was one homer, by Eddie Mathews, who hoisted his 26th into the right field seats in the third.

Semi-Final Rounds Played In Junior Tennis Tourney

Eight Matches Are Decided At Ft. Hill Courts

Semi-final rounds of the City Recreation junior tennis tournament were held yesterday on the Fort Hill tennis courts.

Boys and girls playing on the five courts, and others waiting to play, together with spectators created unusual interest for Cumberland tennis.

Boys and girls winning championships in three age groups from four sections of the city are entered in the tournament to secure city champions in each division.

Yesterday's results follow:

Girls 12 and 13 year group; Sharon Kasecamp, North End, last year's city champion, defeated Sharon Swartley, Fort Hill, 6-2, 6-0. Linda Gibbs, Dingle, eliminated Carol Cioni, Gephart, 6-0, 6-1.

Girls 14 and 15: Sandra Roeder, North End bested Carol Dunlap, Fort Hill, 6-1, 6-0. Sara Murphy, Dingle, defeated Dona George, Gephart, 6-2, 6-0.

Girls 16 and 17: Sally Runion, North End, won over Patty King, Fort Hill, 6-1, 6-0. Maureen Miller won the Dingle championship yesterday morning by defeating Beverly Bowie, 6-2, 6-4 and now meets winner of Susan Bell, vs. Linda Cooper match of Gephart.

Boys 12 and 13: Garry Blake, Fort Hill, defeated Harry Cornelius, Dingle, 6-1, 6-1. Blake plays Allan Kaplon, last year's champion, in the finals.

Boys 14 and 15: Bill Lohmas, Fort Hill, defeated Leland Ransom, North End, 6-2, 5-7, 7-5. Lohmas now plays Drake Gibbs in the finals Friday at 10 o'clock, North End courts.

Boys 16 and 17: The winner of the James Twigg vs. Bill Brown match of Fort Hill meets Buck McKenzie, North End, in the finals.

All boys and girls doubles, from all four sections, remaining in the playoffs are to report to the North End courts this afternoon starting at 1 o'clock.

All final rounds in singles and doubles will be played Friday.

Dizzy Trout Looks Good In Debut

Vancouver Hurler May Help Orioles

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 28 (AP) — Paul (Dizzy) Trout, who quit pitching five years ago to take up baseball broadcasting, has returned to the mound with the Vancouver Mounties and American League fans may be seeing him in action again shortly.

Trout, now 42, signed to pitch for the Mounties, currently trailing the San Francisco Seals in a fight for the Pacific Coast League pennant.

General Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles is expected to call Trout up for relief chores when the coast league race is decided. The Mounties have a working agreement with Baltimore.

Trout had barely arrived in Vancouver when he was called on in the third inning of a game last night after Los Angeles had knocked Charlie Beamon out of the box. Although the Angels eventually got to Trout for three runs in the ninth and an 8-5 victory, the former Detroit Tiger showed he is far from a has-been by striking out 6 in 6 2-3 innings.

"He can still fire with the best of them in baseball," said Charlie Metro, Vancouver manager.

One reason the big right-hander has returned to baseball may be to help support his large family. Trout has nine children, the oldest 17, the youngest less than a year.

The 6 foot, 2 1/2 inch hurler contends he was in his prime when he left the mound in 1952.

"I decided I had a better future in radio, but it didn't work out," said Trout, who was hired to broadcast Tiger games in Detroit.

He says he feels he still has enough variety in his pitches to fool the batters. His repertoire includes "three fast balls that do different things," a fork ball, a slider, and "if no one is looking," a spitball. "But I don't use it much."

Barton Scores Over Midland In Playoffs

Twilight Pennant Champs Win, 8-2

Barton's pennant-winning champs made it two straight over Midland yesterday in their best-of-five final playoffs for the Twilight Baseball League crown. The score was 8-2.

Billy Johnson hurled five-hit ball in the seven-inning game, striking out seven and coasting behind Barton's 10-hit attack. The victors won the opener of their series, 13-6 on Monday.

Johnson also collected a double and single to help his own cause while his battery-mate, catcher Ed Warnick chipped in with a pair of two-baggers. Woody Symons' circuit blast in the third was the only home run of the game.

Paul Thompson with a pair of singles and Tom Dunn with a double had three of the losers' five bingles.

Tom Warnick starred at shortstop for Barton.

The third game of the series is set next Tuesday at 5:30 p. m. at Midland when the fourth place finishers during the regular season will endeavor to keep Barton from making a sweep of the final setto. The score:

Midland	610 916 6-2 5-4
Barton	611 222 8-2 10-7
Robertson and Williams	Johnson and E. Warnick

Bang For Crows

TYRO, Va. (AP) — Orchardist John T. Morton of Tyro has solved the problem of protecting his apples from crows—and with a carbide gun which fires every 10 minutes.

The gun consists of a burner and below the burner a container which holds water. Water trickles into an inner chamber which contains carbide. The water and carbide form acetylene gas which is piped to the burner through one of two barrels—it is a double barreled gun—and the burner explodes the gas. The blast is as loud as a shotgun.

ODC Gains Chair Finals With 10-4 Win Over Vets

Elliott Chalks Up 11th Victory Without Defeat

Floyd "Pete" Elliott chalked up his 11th pitching victory without defeat and the Outdoor Club made it 14 straight victories yesterday with an easy 10-4 triumph over the Henry Hart VFW tossers in the semi-finals of the Rocking Chair Softball League.

The win gave the ODC pennant-winners a sweep of the best-of-three playoffs with the Vets and put them in the league finals where they will meet the victors of the Elks-Pittsburgh Plate Glass series.

Pittsburgh Plate and the Elks will meet in the second game of their semi-final round today at 5:30 p. m. at Stitzer Field. The Elks captured the opener, 12-2, and can go into the finals against ODC with a victory today. They, incidentally, have a six-game winning streak.

In registering their 14th consecutive win the Outdoor Club used their unbeaten ace right-hander and turned back the losers for the sixth time this season. In five other meetings between the VFW and the ODC the latter won, 6-5, 12-4, 5-0, 16-2 and 5-1, prior to yesterday's game.

The triumph was the second for Elliott over the Vets, while Glenn Kauffman, who has a 10-1 mark for the season, turned back the VFW three times. Charley Day registered the other ODC win.

Elliott also starred at the plate in addition to doling out only eight hits to the losers. He collected a double and two singles. Ted Durbin belted a three-bagger and a double and Jimmy Eckard and Sam Brady each had two singles for the ODC.

Phil Reuchel and Bill Deane shared four of the losers' base knocks and Jim Fradiska starred at shortstop for the Vets. The score:

Outdoor Club	104 641 6-10 11-7
Henry Hart VFW	000 130 0-4 8-2
Elliott and Brady	Pollack (6), Gifford, Aman (5) and Morgan

Paul Waner III With Tuberculosis

SARASOTA, Fla., Aug. 28 (AP) — Paul Waner, member of baseball's Hall of Fame, said today he has tuberculosis and will enter a hospital for treatment.

He explained that a doctor in Milwaukee diagnosed his illness last week after his return from a lengthy trip for the Milwaukee Braves. Waner is hitting instructor for the Braves' farm system.

Back in his playing days when he was known as big poison with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Waner carried a weight of 153 pounds. His weight now is 140.

Prefers Violets

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Not everyone in Milwaukee listens to the Braves games on radio or follows the fights on television.

Samuel Hope Jr. is one of the exceptions.

On the night of the Floyd Patterson - Tommy Jackson heavyweight title fight the Braves played the New York Giants.

Mrs. Hope had some friends in to watch and listen.

After the Braves and Patterson had won, Hope reappeared and his wife asked, "Where have you been?"

"Potting violets," he said contentedly.

U.S. Is Favored In Cup Series

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 28 (AP) — America's Walker Cup captain spiked any notions today that Uncle Sam's team is expecting another romp against Britain here Friday and Saturday.

"I expect it to be close all the way," said non-playing skipper Charley Coe. "In fact I'm not at all sure we're going to win. There are some talented players on the other side."

The U. S. golfers, however, are powerful favorites to gain their 15th Walker Cup victory in 16 tries.

Shufflers To Meet

The Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League will meet at 8:30 tonight at the Cumberland Knights of Columbus Home. Secretary Paul Stichter said. All teams desiring to play in this season's race are urged to be represented at the session.

Pittsburgh's Kline Blanks St. Louis, 2-0

Loss Leaves Cards 7½ Games Behind

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28 (AP)—Righthander Ronnie Kline of the Pittsburgh Pirates hurled a brilliant six-hit shutout tonight as the cellar-dwelling Bucs beat the St. Louis Cardinals 2-0. The defeat kept the Cards 7½ games back of first place Milwaukee.

The defeat was a severe blow to Larry Jackson and the Cards, who had hoped to pick up a full game after the Braves lost a 12-6 afternoon contest to the New York Giants. Jackson gave up only six hits as he went down in his seventh defeat in 19 decisions.

The victory was the fourth in a row for Kline who now has a 6-15 record.

Pittsburgh sewed up the game in the third inning on a single by Hank Foiles, a sacrifice by Kline, and Bill Virdon's bouncing single over the pitching mound. Foiles had advanced to third on a fly by Bob Clemente and scored easily as Virdon's bouncing ball went for a base hit.

Yanks Edge Chisox, 5-4, On Hank Bauer's Homer

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)—Hank Bauer's solo homer in the seventh produced the clinching run which gave New York a 5-4 victory over Chicago tonight and moved the pace-setting Yankees 5½ games ahead of the runner-up White Sox.

A throng of 30,916 patiently sat through an hour and 15 minute rain-caused delay at the start of the game. The victory gave the Yankees two straight over the Pale Hose with a third and final game of the series scheduled tomorrow.

The Yankees scored two runs each in the fourth and sixth innings off the American League's winningest pitcher, Billy Pierce, and sewed it up on Bauer's No. 15 homer in the seventh.

The winner was Yankee starter, Don Larsen, although his reliever, Bob Turley, nearly blew it in the seventh when Earl Torgeson blasted a two-run homer to shave New York's lead to 3-4.

McMillan Placed On Waivers By Colts

WESTMINSTER, Md., Aug. 28 (AP)—Defensive halfback Chuck McMillan was placed on waivers today as the Baltimore Colts cut their National Football League squad to 44 players.

McMillan, who did his collegiate playing at John Carroll University in Cleveland, was with the Colts for a month in 1954 before going into the Army. He rejoined the squad in midseason last year.

League rules specify each team's roster must be cut to 43 by midnight next Monday. The final player limit is 35, which must be reached by opening day.

Wildlife Group To Meet Tonight

The Western Maryland Wildlife Federation will meet tonight at the Cumberland Outdoor Club on Frederick Street at 8 o'clock. Seventeen clubs will be represented and any other sportsman's groups wishing to attend the session are invited. Club officials stated.

Martinez Batters And Baffles Gomes

BOSTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Swift, switchhitting Isidro Martinez of Panama alternately baffled and battered Harold Gomes for a unanimous 10-round decision tonight at the arena.

Martinez weighed 129½, Gomes 127½.

Ramos Defeats Athletics, 3-2

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 28 (AP)—Pedro Ramos set the Kansas City Athletics down with only four hits tonight as the Washington Senators took a 3-2 decision in the battle to get out of the American League cellar.

Ramos got a stiff pitching argument from Kansas City's Ralph Terry but outlasted the young righthander who gave up only four hits in eight innings.

Virgil Trucks pitched the ninth and gave up a run as Becquer walked, stole second and scored the winning run on Bolling's single.

The victory, Ramos' 10th against 12 losses, drew the Senators within half a game of the seventh-place Athletics. Terry absorbed the loss, his ninth. He had won four.

Redlegs Score Six In Second, Beat Phils 6-5

Wally Post's Homer Wins For Lawrence

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28 (AP)—Wally Post's 17th homer capped a six-run barrage in the second inning and Cincinnati then beat down a Philadelphia uprising in the eighth for a 6-5 victory over the Phillies in a battle of the bullpens tonight.

Nine pitchers saw action in the game, which gave Cincinnati undisputed possession of fourth place. Starter Brooks Lawrence got the win, while Curt Simmons, who was belted out by the Redlegs in the second, was tagged with the loss.

Don Hoak doubled off the left center wall to open the Redlegs' big second. A triple by Roy McMillan scored Hoak, and McMillan scored on a single by Lawrence.

That finished Simmons, who was replaced by Jim Hearn. The Redlegs made short work of him. Johnny Temple beat out a punt and Joe Taylor sacrificed him to second. Frank Robinson's single to right scored Lawrence and Temple reached third. George Crowe forced Robinson and went to second when Hearn failed to cover first in time for the throw from shortstop Chico Fernandez.

Post's homer into the upper left field stands sent Crowe home and that was the end of Hearn. Robinson came in to relieve. He gave up three hits until he was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

Robinson Raises Demands For His Television Guarantee

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—Midweight champion Ray Robinson's title fight against Carmen Basilio at the Yankee Stadium Sept. 23 appeared no closer to a reality tonight after a day long conference between representatives of the titleholder and the International Boxing Club.

In a statement the IBC said George Gainford, who claimed to represent Robinson, told the conferees that Sugar Ray has now raised his demands for a theater television guarantee from $250,000 to $300,000.

"If this is confirmed by Robinson," the statement said "The IBC will bring an action against Robinson for breach of contract and against teleprompter and its president, Irving Kahn, for inducing breach of contract."

The IBC, with Manager Director Harry Markson as spokesman, said it also will put these facts before the State Athletic Commission Thursday morning for such action as the commission deems proper.

Tourney To Start At Maplehurst Club

Entrants in the Maplehurst Country Club's fall golf tournament are requested to register at the club for the tourney by September 4 in order for pairings to be made and first round matches to be completed by Wednesday, September 11.

The Men's Golf Association of the club voted last night to have this year's fall tournament played on a handicap basis.

Cresaptown Eagles Knot Series, Beat LaVale Orioles 17-0

The Cresaptown Eagles evened their best-of-three series with the LaVale Orioles yesterday at Cresaptown by blasting the Orioles, 17-0, behind the three-hit pitching of Terry Wint.

The Orioles had taken the first game between the two Pen Mar Little League teams on Tuesday by a 7-6 score.

Wint also had four hits for the Eagles while Ron Miller and Ace Robertson each collected two bingles.

Phil Fradiska starred at second base for the winners.

The third and concluding game of the series will be played at 5:45 p. m. at Cresaptown on Friday. The score:

LaVale ... 000 000 0 6 3 0
Cresaptown ... 426 41x—17 17 0

Pittsfield Takes Legion Game, 3-1

ELKTON, Md., Aug. 28 (AP)—Pitcher Dick Costanzo won his own game today, pacing Pittsfield, Mass., to a 3-1 extra-inning victory over West Warwick, R. I., in the American Legion Junior Baseball Section A Tournament.

The league, for boys 15-17, plays seven-inning games.

The game left Pittsfield 1-1 for the tournament which began yesterday, and West Warwick 0-1. West Warwick meets Washington, which is 1-0, at 4 p. m. (EDT) tomorrow.

New Coaches Under Scrutiny

Ivy Loop Watches Donelli, Yovicin

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—The eyes of the Ivy League will be on two new coaches, Buff Donelli of Columbia and young John Yovicin of Harvard, when the football season starts next month.

Can these two, with their fresh ideas, lift the Lions and Crimson from their longtime doldrums? Donelli succeeds Lou Little, who spent 27 years at the Columbia helm. Yovicin replaces Lloyd Jordan at Harvard.

The acumen of the new coaches faces a quick and severe test. As Donelli comes in, Columbia's brilliant passer and quarterback of the past three years, Claude Benham goes out, leaving little nucleus on which to build a team. Harvard's material is thin.

Donelli gained success at Duquesne, where he coached an unbeaten team, and at Boston University. Yovicin comes to Harvard from little Gettysburg College where he earned a reputation for producing a lot with a little.

Princeton's single-wing Tigers, under Charley Caldwell, appear to be the class of the league this year with Yale, most of its championship material gone, still a contender and Brown and Pennsylvania leading dark-horses.

Seeks Second Million

CHICAGO (AP)—Jockey Bill Hartack is now working on his second million as far as winning stakes races for the year.

When America's leading rider for the past three years got home first with Hasty Doll in the Princess Pat Stakes at Washington Park it brought $67,150 to Hasty House Farm. Added to the earnings of Hartack's 28 previous stakes winners this year his wins in the big races have earned owners of the horses $1,014,615.

Of his stakes wins, seven were worth more than $50,000 to the winner. Two others were worth more than $40,000.

Robinson Plans Return To Camp

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y. (AP)—A member of Sugar Ray Robinson's training camp party said today the middleweight champion would return to his camp Friday to resume preparations for his title fight with Carmen Basilio next month.

Robinson abruptly halted his training last week in a dispute over theater television for the championship bout at Yankee Stadium Sept. 23.

It was reported that Robinson would resume training Friday at 3 p. m. He spent today in New York, where his attorney, Martin Machet, was in conference with officials of the International Boxing Club and Theater Network Television.

Williams Hits 33rd Homer To Beat Detroit

Bunning Loses Two-Hitter, 1-0

DETROIT, Aug. 28 (AP)—Ted Williams broke up a tense pitching duel between Boston's tall Frank Sullivan and Detroit's Jim Bunning today with a seventh-inning home run that gave the Red Sox a 1-0 triumph and their second straight decision over the Tigers.

The Red Sox slugger slammed his 33rd home run into the upper right centerfield bleachers leading off in the seventh. It tied him with Mickey Mantle and Roy Sievers for the American League home run lead.

Williams' drive, which carried well over 400 feet, was the second base hit off Bunning, who was seeking his 16th victory and instead suffered his seventh setback. Bill Klaus got the only other Red Sox hit, a fourth-inning single.

Sullivan restricted Detroit to 10 hits and received tremendous support in the field as the Boston infield rattled off three double plays in the late innings.

Bunning, who struck out seven batters and walked three, retired for a pinch hitter and Billy Hoft retired the Red Sox in order in the ninth.

Series Fever Is High In Milwaukee

Everything Ready Unless Braves Fold

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 28 (AP)—World Series fever, no new visitor to this land of beer and bratwurst, is climbing steadily these days toward what Braves fans fondly hope will be the blow out to end all blowouts.

Despite the fact that Manager Fred Haney's boys haven't clinched the National League pennant and the memory of last year's foldup still lingers, fans are making series plans.

Why shouldn't they? Isn't the local Association of Commerce making plans for a gigantic civic celebration—if and when. And hasn't the association taken pains to assure potential visitors that there will be no shortage of hotel rooms, contrary to reports they might have heard.

The fever is a real thing in the ticket offices of the Braves.

William Eberly, Braves ticket director who still remembers the headache he had last year when the club finished a game behind the champion Dodgers, is busy these days saying, "no," to requests for World Series tickets.

Jim Edelstein, one of Eberly's aids who is in charge of mailings, estimated today that more than 500 polite, but emphatic "noes" in form letters have been sent out in the last 10 days.

They have gone out to folks in all 48 states and even to East Pakistan; Tokyo; Fairbanks, Alaska, and Saskatoon, Canada.

"We had a slack day today," Edelstein said. "We mailed out only 20 form letters. Yesterday we handled 150."

The letters thank the writer for his confidence in the Braves but point out that no World Series tickets will go on sale until Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick gives the okay, sometime in mid-September.

Yesterday And Today At The Race Tracks

Round Table Is Favored In American Derby

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)—Round Table, coming with a rush as a contender for the national 3-year-old title, appears the horse to beat in Saturday's $100,000 added American Derby at Washington Park.

Kentucky Derby winner, Iron Liege, may be in a field of seven or eight expected for the mile and three-sixteenths test of 3-year-olds on the grass.

However, Calumet Farm trainer, Jimmy Jones, may send Iron Liege into the derby only if the turf is wet. Iron Liege likes soft going, while Travis Kerr's Round Table hates a wet track.

If Iron Liege skips the derby, he'll run in Monday's closing feature at Washington Park, the $100,000 added Washington Park Handicap.

Moorefield Council Seeks Citizens Help On Water And Sewage Problems

Community Disposal System Is Now Mandatory;

Town's Present Filtration Facility Declared Inadequate

MOOREFIELD — Citizens of representatives of industry, Moorefield were called to meet business and citizens. The motion with the town council Tuesday carried and Mayor Clarke indicated that the council will be the installation of a sewage disposal plant. The meeting was also brought out at the called to give citizens information regarding something that the State Water Commission has stated must be done; not to decide upon whether or not Moorefield needs the plant.

P. W. Clarke, mayor, presided and presented the situation as it now exists. Moorefield must install the plant. In 1954 a preliminary survey was made by a Keyser firm and the estimated cost was approximately $125,000. Today, the same type of plant will cost $146,000. A federal grant of approximately $45,000 is practically assured to assist in the costs, the mayor said.

Discussion was held as to the method of financing the project and Senator R. J. Bean made a motion that a committee of citizens be appointed to work with the council in deciding (1) the area to be served and (2) the most practical way of retiring the indebtedness. He suggested that the committee be composed of representatives of industry, increases daily. The Loewengart plant has indicated that its needs will increase and to meet this, the water plant will have to operate 24 hours a day and even then there will be no surplus for any emergency that might arise. Greater storage and pumping facilities are needed, officials declare.

Several suggestions are being considered: To increase the plant size by one half; to double the capacity; to add a 200,000 storage tank; or to increase the plant and add a storage tank.

The firm of Kelley, Gidley and Staub of Charleston is making a survey which will be completed by October 1, and will give the council definite information concerning the present and future needs of the community. It is felt by the council that whatever is done should not increase the water rates.

The council is authorized to issue necessary bonds to take care of both of these community improvements but it was felt that citizens should be informed as to the need and what is being done at this time.

Area Girls Honored At 4-H Camp

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va. — Among 15 girls honored at a citizenship ceremony at the State 4-H Girls' Camp here were Suddelle Kiser of Hampshire County and Marjorie Losh of Preston County.

Girls who participated in the ceremony were those of voting age and those who will have reached voting age before the 1958 girls' camp.

The Farnsworth Scholarship to next year's camp was received by Rebecca Dunkle of Pendleton County.

Participants in a candlelighting ceremony included Louise Pyles of Mineral County, Health H. and Ruth Cuppett of Grant County, spirit of camp.

Girls in the camp were divided into four tribes. Sally Ann Ours of Grant County was the Mingo chief. Cagomores included Ruth Cuppett of Grant County, Delaware tribe, and Suddelle Kiser of Hampshire County, Cherokee tribe.

College Nurse Is Appointed

FROSTBURG—R. Bowen Hardy, president of State Teachers College, has announced that Mrs. Martha Fleckinger, 95 Ormond Street, has been appointed resident nurse at the college, effective Tuesday, September 3.

Mrs. Fleckinger was chosen after having made the highest point score in a state-wide competitive test. She is a native of Frostburg and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wittich, with whom she resides. She graduated from Beall High School and the Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, Cumberland. After working in private practice for a number of years she joined the staff of Miners Hospital 12 years ago and has been on active duty during the entire time.

Two Reservists From Area Get Advancements

Units Training At Camp Meade

FROSTBURG — Lt. Col. Aden T. Miller, Lonaconing, commanding officer of Command "E" Headquarters at Fort George G. Meade, announced the promotion of two local reservists.

Howard E. Gulpin, Spc 3, who resides at Fairgo, RD 5, Cumberland, and Denny L. Martin, Spc 3, who resides at 611 North Mechanic Street, Cumberland, were promoted to the rank of sergeant in the 810th Signal Battalion.

Command "E" Headquarters, which is under Col. Miller's command for the second year at this summer encampment of the Signal Corps Reserve at Fort Meade, was established to unify a number of units under one command for intensive technical training.

The following units are under the command: 794th Signal Detachment (Intelligence), Cumberland, 318th Signal Company, Ohio, 307th Signal Company, Washington, D. C., 971st Signal Company, Baltimore, and the 984th Signal Company, Virginia. It was one of the first commands to begin functioning at this year's encampment.

The units, combined to form Command "E", contain over 300 men and are operating as they would in case of actual mobilization to active duty, complete with vehicles, weapons, switchboard and all technical equipment.

Cub Pack Holds Corn Roast Today

FROSTBURG — Cub Pack 46, sponsored by the PTA of Beall Elementary School, will hold a winner and corn roast at Swauger's Dam today.

Cubmaster Karl Hetz states that a large truck, filled with hay, will leave Beall Elementary School at 4 p. m. and take the Cub Scouts to the dam.

Parents are requested to accompany all cubs on this outing, and each person will bring their own food with the pack furnishing the beverages.

Baltimorean Sets Up Record Of Nation's War Dead

Former Army Lieutenant Blends Affection For Cold Historical Fact With Warm Sympathy For Country's Forgotten Men. Project Covers 17 Years Toil

EDITOR'S NOTE — After each war, the nation tallies its losses of men and wealth, honors their passing and each year offers memorial to their death. But one man — a former lieutenant — publishes a war memorial at his own expense, listing the dead of America's wars.

By CHARLES L. STAFFORD

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28 (AP)—Clarence Stewart Peterson has blended an affection for cold historical fact with a warm sympathy for forgotten men.

For these men—the nation's war dead, Peterson, a former Army lieutenant, puts his liking for history to work.

Last year Peterson published "Known Military Dead During War of 1812." This year he publishes in 183 pages, 9,350 names of "Known Military Dead During Mexican War."

And he has ready for publication another on the Spanish-American War.

"As in all wars, most of those who died were so young they never had a chance to live," Peterson said. "The great event in their lives was death. Why should we forget them?"

For more than 17 years, the Baltimore bachelor has patiently combed dusty, sometimes crumbling records in the archives in Washington. He has written hundreds of letters to state adjutants general, to veterans organizations and historical societies.

Patiently, in long hand, he has written the names on slips of paper and arranged them alphabetically. He publishes the lists with his own money, barely making enough to cover expenses.

"These aren't complete lists—you could never get a complete list of the dead in any war," said Peterson, "but they are the only lists. Maybe someone else will come along and improve them."

Careful records have been kept by the government in recent wars. But such things as identification tags and graves registration units were unknown in those earlier wars.

Peterson blames the absence of lists of war dead on human nature.

"When a war is over," he said, "people are so darn sick of it they don't care to think about it any more."

"I vaguely remember the Spanish-American War when a very small boy," he said, "one of my earliest recollections was hearing of the sinking of the Maine."

Peterson, who served in the AEF in France and in the Philippines during the Morro insurrection, left the Army to take several jobs and earn a master of arts in history from Columbia University.

He returned to government service after teaching school and operating his own publishing business.

A native of Swift County in western Minnesota, Peterson said he liked history as a boy when the newness of the frontier towns impressed him against the agelessness of the things he read in his history books. Peterson is nearing the retirement age of 65. He is an internal revenue agent.

He has 18 historical publications copyrighted and catalogued in the Library of Congress and takes special pride in "First Governors of the 48 States," which has been published in Braille.

Peterson said his determination to prepare lists of war dead in wars for which there are no lists took form some years ago.

"A woman out West wrote me and asked if a relative of hers had been killed in the War of 1812," he said. "I thought I would check the list of war dead in the archives, but there wasn't any."

"The names are there, I thought, and someone should dig them out now before they are lost forever."

Clarence Stewart Peterson has been digging ever since.

FOREST PRINCESS—A West Virginia Wesleyan coed, Mary Sue VanCamp, 18, of Wheeling, has been chosen as a princess to the October Mountain State Forest Festival to be held in Elkins. Miss VanCamp will be among the 36 princesses representing every section of the mountain state in the royal court of Queen Silvia XXI, Miss Elizabeth Carol (Beth) Kemper of Bluefield. The brown-haired and brown-eyed princess is a graduate of Charleston High School, and is a sophomore at W. Va. Wesleyan where she is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Van Camp of Wheeling.

New Horticultural Hall Opens At Reading Fair

Exposition Adds Modern Facility

READING, Pa. — The Reading Fair, long famed as one of the largest agricultural expositions in the East, will unveil a new Horticultural Hall when it opens on Sunday, September 8, for an eight-day and seven-night run.

The new exhibit building will permit a better display of farm produce, flowers and cakes entered in the competition for premiums offered annually by the fair.

Horticultural Hall is set up in a completely remodeled building and will provide fluorescent lighted shelves and racks on two sides of a wide aisle for the display of the many products. A glass-enclosed showcase has been provided for the cake display.

In addition to displays of other farm crops included in past years, this year's fair will also feature wool and hay exhibits, with producers competing for prizes in the two new departments.

The fair's exhibits will include poultry, cattle, swine and sheep, all competing for prizes, along with a complete display of the latest in farm machinery set up by commercial exhibitors.

Features in the agricultural line also will include the Hampshire State Swine Show and the Aberdeen Angus State Cattle Show.

The Future Farmers of America and 4-H Clubs have scheduled a number of contests throughout the week and vocational high school clubs will set up window displays depicting farm activities.

In addition to all the displays, the fair will honor the "Outstanding Farm Family of Berks County" to be named by the Berks County Pamona Grange.

The Farm Maid of 1957 will be selected at the fair with judging based on ability in needle work, apple pie baking and hand milking of a cow. The winner will receive $100 in cash.

Rabid Fox Killed By Poultryman

MOOREFIELD — Perry Wilson, manager of Reynolds Gap Poultry Farm, killed a rabid fox in the lot at the rear of his house Wednesday evening.

The maddened animal was first seen by Mrs. Wilson and her two small children coming directly towards them snarling and barking. Fortunately a cat ran in front of the fox which gave Mrs. Wilson and the children a chance to run into the house. While the fox was killing the cat Mr. Wilson, attracted by the shouts of his family, secured a gun and killed the rabid animal.

A pony, tethered to the fence, had apparently been bitten by the fox and was treated by Dr. T. P. From who stated there was no doubt the fox was rabid. Numerous reports of rabid foxes have been received in Hardy County. They are likely to attack humans as well as farm and other animals.

Champion Wood Chopper To Attend Forest Festival

Annual Contest Set October 4

ELKINS, W. Va. — Hardy woodsmen from West Virginia's forest areas will again compete for gold and glory at the annual state championship woodchopping and sawing contests at the Mountain State Forest Festival at Elkins, Friday, October 4, William M. Stutler Jr., chairman of the event, disclosed here yesterday.

Stutler also announced that David Geer, world champion chopper, has accepted an invitation to participate in contests again, and Geer recently successfully defended his title at Albany, Ore. Last year at the Forest Festival, Geer chopped through a 12-inch poplar log in 34.6 seconds.

The contests this year will generally follow the pattern of other years with one possible important change. If the number of entrants reaches expectations trial heats may begin at 8 a. m.

Champions of 1956 who may be present to defend their titles this year include: Crosscut sawing, Dalton Currence and Charles Taylor of Cassidy; crosscut sawing, man and woman, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bennett of Wymer; chopping, David Geer, Jewett City, Connecticut; and chain sawing in the three classifications, Robert Bennett, Riverton; Lawrence Fox, Cassidy; and Hamman Coffman, Montrose.

The annual championship sawing and chopping contests have been held in connection with the Forest Festival since its beginning in 1930 and have increased in popularity with each passing year, according to Festival officials.

The chain saw events have been added in recent years as the mechanical age has invaded West Virginia's woodlands.

Woodsmen wishing to enter the contests may contact the Mountain State Forest Festival offices in Elkins, Forestry Building, and application blanks will be sent to many of the lumber companies operating in the state.

State Requests Keyser's Views On Route 220

KEYSER—Differences of opinion and objections by local residents are the main reasons Route 220 has not been definitely located through Keyser, State Road Commissioner Patrick C. Graney has told Mayor Richard E. Romig and Council in a letter.

The letter was in reply to a resolution adopted a few weeks ago by the Mayor and Council, requesting Graney to take steps to give priority to a project relocating the route through Keyser.

"Our records indicate that serious consideration was given during 1952 and 1953 by the State Road Commission for the improvements on Mineral Street south to the bridge, and the extension from that street to a junction with U. S. Route 220 to the south and survey plans were completed for this work."

"Due to the many differences of opinion existing and the several objections from residents along Mineral Street, the city authorities of Keyser, the Mineral County Board of Education and the Potomac State College and the seeming impossibility of reconciling these differences, construction of the project was deferred."

"Before the project is again placed on the active list, it is suggested that proper representatives of those persons concerned discuss the proposed construction with our district engineer, Harold J. Snyder, at Keyser, in an attempt to remove the many previous objections."

As a result of Graney's letter, "interested parties" are being asked to give their views to the city. Mayor Romig said. Letters are being mailed to persons and institutions affected by the project, asking their reactions and a public meeting may be held later.

Grant County Girl Places In Contest

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va. — Ruth Cuppett of Grant County was one of three runners-up in the West Virginia 4-H Girls good grooming contest held as a part of the State 4-H Girls' Camp.

The Grant County girl was awarded a $6 scholarship to return to the 1958 camp.

Among the blue ribbon winners besides Miss Cuppett were Sude Kiser, Hampshire County; Rebecca Haslett, Tucker County; Stephana Meadows, Hampshire County; Carolyn Chipley, Hardy County; and Louise Pyles, Mineral County.

The winner was 15-year-old Kay Boso of Wood County. She got a $12 scholarship. Some 207 girls from 49 West Virginia counties participated in the contest.

Shrimp are found in all coastal states in the United States.

CHRYSLER
54 Plymouth Club Coupe
The former local owner of this two tone car kept it in tip-top condition with regular 1,000 mile checks. If you want a trouble-free car for that second car in the family this is it. The equipment includes large heater, defroster, electric windshield wipers, signal lights, backup lights, tinted glass, radio, airfoam seats, good tires, and the green two tone enamel paint is A-1. The standard transmission and A-6 cylinder engine makes this an economical car to operate. Call PA 4-3841 for a demonstration. Our price for this premium car

Improved Gas Delivery Set At Grantsville

Jennings Refractory Also Will Benefit

A new 4.8-mile natural gas pipeline will assure better zero weather gas deliveries for Grantsville area consumers and will extend gas service to a refractory plant at Jennings, it was reported yesterday.

Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company has constructed a six-inch line from a long distance gas supply pipeline at the Maryland-Pennsylvania border to Jennings.

Construction was undertaken to improve domestic service for Grantsville customers and to furnish the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company plant at Jennings, according to C. C. Robbins, manager for C. & A. here. Cost $194,000.

Mr. Robbins said the improvement project cost approximately $194,000. About 130 consumers in the Grantsville area will benefit, as well as the refractory plant.

Harbison-Walker, employing about 110 at its Jennings plant, turns out super-and high-duty firebrick, used principally in blast furnaces, open hearths and forge furnaces. Before converting to natural gas it was a raw producer of gas generated from coal. It uses gas as a fuel for burning brick in tunnel kilns through which railroad cars move the firebrick.

Along with better service for Grantsville and new service for the refractory plant, C. & A.'s new line can now also better supply the Yoder Locker Company with natural gas.

About 600 feet of two-inch line was laid from the new six-inch pipeline to service Yoder Locker's plant just north of Grantsville, Mr. Robbins said. Another 900 feet of three-inch line was installed from the new six-inch line into Grantsville directly.

Replaces Smaller Line

C. & A.'s 4.8-mile line replaces about 8,000 feet of two and three-inch pipeline previously used to service Grantsville from the state line supply connection. About 640 feet of this older line will be converted as part of Grantsville's distribution system. The rest will be abandoned.

Gas for the new pipeline will be furnished C. & A. by Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, an affiliated utility, from the latter's 16-inch line just north of the Maryland border.

Harbison-Walker's Jennings plant will be supplied with 440,000 cubic feet of gas yearly by 1960, or an amount equal to 29 times the yearly consumption of Grantsville's residential consumers.

Four Teaching Posts Unfilled

With the start of school only a week away, Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer still has four high school vacancies to fill.

Three of the four vacancies came to Mr. Rizer's attention only this week.

One of the vacancies is at Port Hill High School, where Miss Ozella E. Robertson, home economics teacher there the last eight years, has resigned to take a position in New Jersey.

The other three vacancies are at Allegheny High School. The assistant superintendent is seeking a vocal music teacher to succeed Brantley D. Greeson, who resigned some time ago to accept a position at St. Mary's Junior College in Southern Maryland.

Another vacancy was caused by the decision of Mrs. Mary Price Hager of Frostburg to take a leave of absence from her vocational home economics post at Allegheny. R. Eugene Shaw, social studies teacher and basketball and baseball coach at Allegheny, has resigned to go to Nyack, N. Y.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hotchkiss Jr., 1117 Blue Avenue, Zanesville, Ohio, announce the birth of a son Tuesday at Good Samaritan Hospital there. The parents are former residents of Cumberland.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Light, Newark, N. J., announce the birth of a daughter at Beth Israel Hospital there. The mother is the former Miss Norma Lee Beeche, Brookfield Avenue.

Lt. and Mrs. Richard D. Dailey announce the birth of a daughter on August 15 at Lackland Air Force Base Hospital, San Antonio, Texas. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Burke, 1401 Bedford Street. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Dailey, 600 Kent Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold (Buddy) Haines, 510 Linden Street, announce the birth of a daughter Tuesday at Brown's Clinic, Romney, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Sullivan, Washington, D. C., announce the birth of a daughter on Sunday in Prince Georges Hospital there. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Sullivan of Mt. Savage.

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Rodgers, Oldtown, a daughter yesterday.

GETS SCHOLARSHIP—Judith Ann Kompanek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kompanek, 625 Frederick Street, has been awarded a piano scholarship to Frostburg State Teachers College. She was a member of the 1957 graduating class at Fort Hill High School and received the accompanist award.

Judge Refuses Habeas Corpus Writs For Three

House Of Correction Inmates Ask Release

Chief Judge George Henderson has filed opinions in Allegany County Circuit Court refusing writs of habeas corpus for three inmates of the Maryland House of Correction.

One opinion concerns the case of Ernest Calvin Leitch, who was sentenced to 18 months in the House of Correction November 15, 1956, by Trial Magistrate Robert E. Danmeyer in Anne Arundel County on false pretexts charges under the "Bad Check Act."

Judge Henderson writes that Leitch gives various reasons why he should have been found not guilty but does not explain why, if the magistrate did not accept his explanation, he did not appeal to Circuit Court.

Appeal Is Remedy

The judge adds that the Maryland Court of Appeals has stated time and again that if errors are alleged to have been made in trial of cases, the proper remedy is appeal, not an application for a writ of habeas corpus.

In his second opinion, Judge Henderson covered the identical cases of Robert Gardner Bowers and Robert Allen Amsley, who received a total of four-and-one-half years each in the House of Correction on two burglary charges.

Bowers and Amsley explain in their petitions that they were arrested November 15, 1956, at Hagerstown and were placed in custody in Washington County Jail without being taken before a justice of the peace or committing magistrate and without the formality of a preliminary hearing.

Both were indicted by the Washington County Circuit Court grand jury November 16, 1956, and were sentenced on November 27, 1956.

Irregularity 'Cured'

"It may be — though I do not so decide — that the imprisonment on November 15 was irregular. Even if that had been so, this irregularity was cured when on November 16 they were indicted by the grand jury and served with a copy of the indictment," Judge Henderson wrote. "It is not unusual for a suspect to be taken into custody for questioning."

"If they believed that their confinement was illegal, or if they desired that they be released under a bond, they had a right then and there before the Circuit Court to apply for a writ of habeas corpus. But they cannot at some later date and when they are confined under a properly imposed sentence, claim that the otherwise valid legal sentence was invalid merely because of some irregularity in their arrest prior to the indictment," Judge Henderson added.

With the two opinions, Judge Henderson filed court orders refusing the petitions for writ of habeas corpus.

Ike Signs Bill To Give County Bailey Bridge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a bill transferring ownership to Allegheny County, Md., of a bridge which had been loaned to the county by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

The Bailey bridge at Corriganville was loaned to the county in 1948 for temporary use to replace one that had been flooded out. The bridge was improved and incorporated into the county road system.

Permit Is Issued For Residence

Marvin Wharton has been issued a building permit by the city engineer to construct a one-story dwelling at 614 Montgomery Street at an estimated cost of $10,000.

Located in a residential "B" zone, the 42 feet by 26 feet structure will have a concrete block foundation, brick veneer walls and an asphalt shingle roof.

The work will be done by Raymond L. Wharton, LaVale, and the plans are being furnished by the Buchanan Lumber Company.

Funds Allotted For Additional Phone Service

$45,000 To Be Spent For New Circuits

The board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland has allocated $45,000 for the expansion of service for the Cumberland office.

The announcement was made at a recent meeting by W. Griffin Morrel, vice president. The approval for funds for the local office is a part of $1,011,000 appropriated by the board.

Robert G. Garner, manager of the local office, said the money will be spent to increase the number of circuits from Cumberland to nearby exchanges.

The new equipment that will be installed at the central office on South Centre Street includes material and equipment for 145 incoming trunks and 142 outgoing trunks.

Mr. Garner said the expenditure for the work here is a part of the normal growth and expansion and is not a part of the announcement of the recent proposal for wider range calling planned for this section.

One of the largest appropriations approved by the board of directors calls for $289,000 for additional switchboards and dial equipment to enlarge Hagerstown's telephone system. Approval also was given to enlarge the telephone system at Brunswick at a cost of $28,000.

For Baltimore City, an allocation of $52,000 was made for underground cable for the eastern section of the city and an additional $183,000 to connect telephones in the Woodlawn area with the Baltimore circuits.

Another large allocation of $71,000 will go for the Salisbury cable project bringing the total expenditure to $755,000 for additional wire facilities there.

An expenditure of $37,000 was approved to construct a new building and for additional dial equipment to meet service demands at Preston.

4 City Hall Offices To Be Relocated

Four City Hall offices soon will be relocated, Streets and Public Property Commissioner William H. Buchholtz announced yesterday.

Mr. Buchholtz said he discussed tentative plans for the move yesterday with City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum, City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery and Tax Collector George E. Davis. Commissioner Buchholtz said the main purpose of the move is to provide more office space for Mr. Ullery, who also handles voting registration and Civil Service Commission business.

Another benefit would be a more convenient location for the tax office—perhaps in the basement—so elderly people wouldn't have to climb the several steps to City Hall's main floor.

The city clerk's office would be moved to the present tax office. This would provide more room for the Finance Department, which now occupies an office jointly with Mr. Ullery.

The city attorney's and city engineer's offices probably will be moved too, but Mr. Buchholtz said no definite locations have been selected.

"We want to find the most practical and economical way to provide greater efficiency," said the commissioner. He added that plans would be ready probably within the next two weeks. He said that few alterations will be made, and that city workers will be used for the relocation work when possible.

Permit Issued For New Dwelling

Paul W. Dorn, RFD 3, yesterday obtained a permit from the Allegheny County assessing department for construction of a $4,500 dwelling in Election District 21 at Gross in the Baltimore Pike area.

The frame dwelling will be 28 by 40 feet and will be one story high.

George A. Conway, 16 Pennsylvania Avenue, obtained a permit for construction of a $500 summer camp on Town Creek in Election District 2. The property is assessed to the South End Road and Gun Club. The 20 by 24 foot camp will be covered with shingles.

Celanese Declares 25-Cent Dividend

Directors of Celanese Corporation of America have declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock, payable September 27, 1957, to shareholders of record September 9, 1957.

The board yesterday voted regular quarterly dividends of $1.12 1/2 per share on the preferred stock, series A, and $1.75 per share on the 7 per cent second preferred stock. Both preferred stock dividends are payable October 1, 1957, to shareholders of record September 9, 1957.

Plan Lunches For New School Term

This picture was taken yesterday at Parkside Elementary School in LaVale where Allegheny County public school lunch personnel met to complete plans for the coming school year. Cafeteria managers and head cooks attended yesterday's meeting. Today all cafeteria personnel will be on hand. Pictured, left to right, are Mrs. Anna C. Thwaites, bookkeeper-secretary in the school lunch department office at the Board of Education building; Mrs. Elizabeth Rizer, manager of the cafeteria at Mt. Savage; Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias in the county, and Mrs. Mildred Hyde, head cook at Valley High School in Lonaconing. Between 140 and 150 will attend today's session, lasting until 3:30 o'clock.

Local Honey Takes Prizes At State Fair

Charges Are Placed In Fatal Accident

Cumberland residents are tops in the production of honey and honey products as indicated by the results of the judging in the Farm and Garden Department at the annual Maryland State Fair now under way at Timonium.

John H. Lindner not only had the best prize winning honey display but also walked off with awards for honey light extract and honey dark extract, as well as the honey dark comb.

Honey dark extract prize winner is Fern Wilson who was presented a prize for his honey finely granulated entry.

Stanley Wilson was the top man for his entry of honey light extract, small beekeeper. Edward O'Donnell ended up with four top prizes including honey light amber, honey amber extract, honey finely granulated and beeswax.

Another winner is Raymond O'Neal who got prizes for honey dark extract and honey chunk.

Tractor Champs Leave Friday For Timonium

Western Maryland's two tractor driving champions will travel together to Timonium tomorrow where they will compete with 21 other county winners in the state 4-H tractor driving contest at the State Fair.

The drivers, William Baker of Flintstone, representing Allegheny County, and George Glatfely of Oakland, representing Garrett County, will be accompanied to Timonium by their respective assistant county agents, James B. Arnold and James A. McHenry.

The state contest is scheduled for Saturday.

DHIA Supervisors Will Get Training

A two-week training course for dairy herd improvement association supervisors will be conducted at the University of Maryland Dairy Department beginning September 16 and continuing through September 27.

There are several vacancies in the state, making it necessary to offer this training course, according to Robert D. Appleman, extension dairyman.

Any supervisors now working who have not received their licenses will be required to attend part or all of this training course in order to have a license to test milk.

Frederick County Girl Has Junior Champion Holstein

By CHARLES L. STAFFORD

TIMONIUM, Md., Aug. 28 (AP)—A blonde, pony-tailed bit of farm girl, the irresistible representative of a second-generation State Fair family, breathed deeply today of the sweet smell of success.

For the first time in her 9 years, Sharon Stauffer led a calf into the show ring at the fair. Minutes later, she came away with the purple rosette emblematic of her calf's choice as junior champion Holstein in the 4-H and Future Farmers of America division.

This was only Sharon's third competitive appearance, but behind her was the show ring experience of her father and the farming knowledge of at least two generations.

Her story—the family as the bedrock of agriculture—was told again and again as the 76th annual fair attracted 19,794 during its third day. Farm boys and

Two Men Jailed For Action Of Circuit Court

Charges Are Placed In Fatal Accident

Two occupants of a truck which struck and killed an 11-year-old girl from Paw Paw, W. Va., Tuesday evening were committed to Allegheny County Jail yesterday in default of bonds.

Emory L. Shirley, 35, Paw Paw, operator of the truck which struck Connie Jean Crabtree, was charged with manslaughter by motor vehicle and bond was set at $1,000.

The passenger in the truck, Vernon Alfred Hedrick, 30, also of Paw Paw, was charged with providing false information to police officers and his bond was set at $500.

Charges against Shirley were placed after it was learned that he was not the driver of the truck, although he had "admitted" being the operator of the vehicle.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, said the charge against Hedrick marks the first time in Allegheny County that the new law has been used. The penalty for providing false information is up to $500 fine or a six-months jail sentence.

The fact that Hedrick was not the operator was learned while he was being questioned yesterday morning by Troopers R. D. Wolford and Carlton W. Lewis and Lilya. It also was learned during the interrogation that Shirley owned the truck but had never been issued an operator's license.

At a hearing yesterday morning (Cont'd. on Page 10, Col. 1)

Firemen Called When Gas Tank Is Moved Here

Local firemen received two calls yesterday. East Side firemen stood by at 55 Henderson Avenue during the early part of the afternoon when a gasoline tank which was being moved at a service station developed a leak. No fire developed.

A grass fire was extinguished about 1:55 a. m. at the corner of Prince George Street and Grand Avenue. South End firemen put out the fire.

Firemen from West Side Tuesday answered a call at 528 Greene Street when a coal truck caught fire.

Firemen said the truck was being operated by Richard Shultz, Elk Garden. Extensive damage was caused.

Pupils Will Be Encouraged To Join Recreation Clubs

After the fall school term opens next week Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant director of the Cumberland Recreation Department, plans to visit schools to encourage pupils to join the stamp, coin, or camera clubs now being sponsored by the department.

Mrs. Hogan said efforts will be made to enlarge membership in the groups, which afford a hobby and recreation for many people of all ages.

The junior and senior members are combined in the clubs and the minimum age limit is 10 years. She said it is surprising how much enthusiasm the youngsters show in the club activities, especially in coin and stamp auctions held occasionally.

There now are about 50 members in the Western Maryland Coin Club Inc., headed by A. J. Cioni. It meets at City Hall on the third Wednesday of each month. At the auctions prices are determined by catalog value and no sale exceeds the value. Ten per cent of the money goes to the club for expenses and social activities.

Some of the members visit less fortunate children who have been stricken with rheumatic fever, and help stimulate their interest in coin collecting.

Paul Weisenmiller is acting president of the local stamp club, filling the unexpired term of Brother Nicholas of LaSalle High School who has left Cumberland. The club has a membership of about 20 and meets on the second and fourth Tuesday's of each month. It also holds auctions.

The camera club, which has both amateur and professional photographers as members meets on the second Wednesday of each month. The membership is about 35 persons, with Edgar Growden as president. The members participate in practice shots and field trips, and at meetings show movies.

Each of the clubs, according to Mrs. Hogan, is planning for exhibits in the city this summer. Such an exhibit now is on display at the Cumberland Free Public Library, sponsored by the stamp club.

State Turkey Farmers Meet

The annual summer meeting of the Maryland Turkey Producers' Association will be held in Ocean City at the Plimhinmon Hotel on Wednesday, September 4.

A short educational program will start at 2:30 p. m. The program will include a talk by Dr. W. C. Supple, professor of research at University of Maryland, on new evidence relating to need of poultry for so-called unknown growth factors. There will also be a discussion of bulk feeding by a representative of one of the feed companies.

The program will be followed by a period of informal relaxation, when those attending may go swimming, boardwalk parading or turkey talking.

The usual turkey banquet will be served at 6:30 p. m. with entertainment and door prizes. The guest speaker will be R. S. Brown, agricultural representative of the Eastern National Bank and vice president of the Association of Bankers' Agricultural Representatives for a five state area.

This meeting offers a chance to have that late summer trip to the ocean, as well as an opportunity to get the latest information on what is happening in the turkey industry.

Continues Ill

Mrs. Susan Clark, who continues ill, has been transferred from the Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, to Hillcrest Nursing Home, Winchester, Va.

Heart Group Cannot Join United Fund

Judge Foster Cites National Policy

F. Allan Weatherholt, president of the Allegheny-Garrett Counties Heart Association, said last night that state and national officers of the Heart Association have directed that under no circumstances may the local association sign a contract with the County United Fund.

Mr. Weatherholt said that the American Heart Association has instituted a firm national policy making it impossible for any local or state association to participate in federated drives such as is being developed here, or to accept money collected in the name of Heart by such a joint appeal.

In explanation of this position, Mr. Weatherholt quoted a letter from Judge Dulany Foster, president of the Heart Association of Maryland. Judge Foster wrote, "I am sure you know far better than I that Heart's policy has been developed only after many hundreds of experiments in many types of federated drives. In city after city local boards have accepted the unhappy realization that United Funds could not possibly satisfy the needs of our Association, either in financial allocation or in educational opportunities to bring the Heart story to the public."

Judge Foster cited statistics based on American Heart's analysis of other federated drives. "Local Heart Associations which have participated in federated funds received an over-all median per capita income of 6.6 cents from the united drive. Reports from Associations conducting independent campaigns during the same period reveal a per capita figure of 13.9 cents. Thus, the independent fund appeal proved more than twice as effective."

"It is important, when analyzing such data," Judge Foster added, "to remember that money means research, community services and education." He noted that money lost to the Heart cause through participation in further federated funds could never be regained. "How can we measure this loss," Judge Foster asked, "when its real cost is in terms of human suffering and loss of life and capacity?"

"The national policy of the American Heart Association is justified by the fact that the objectives of the Association make independent fund raising imperative. It is not possible, it is felt, for a local budget committee to give appropriate weight to important broad national goals such as research."

Another significant objection to Heart's participation in federated funds according to state and national Heart officials, is that the educational value of the independent campaign is largely lost in the federated appeal. The accomplishments of research can be made effective only through professional and public education, they said. A great deal of this education takes place during the annual intensive Heart Fund drive, in February.

New Drought Appeal Sought

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 28 (AP)—Virginia will invite Maryland and Delaware to join in an appeal for federal reconsideration of drought disaster assistance needs in the three states.

President Eisenhower turned requests from governors of the three states federal drought aid for farmers, an action that led to a conference here today between Gov. Stanley and several Virginia agricultural leaders.

Afterward, Stanley told newsmen he will invite Govs. McKeldin of Maryland and Boggs of Delaware to join him in an appeal to Secretary of Agriculture Benson for reconsideration.

While no date was set for the meeting to be sought with Benson, Stanley indicated he would be unable to go to Washington before early October.

Equity Suits Filed

Three equity suits have been filed in Allegheny County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Martha R. Smith vs. Eldon T. Smith, John Parch vs. Louise Parch and Kenneth E. Dicken vs. Lucile N. Dicken.

Woman Seeks $60,000 For Son's Injuries

A local woman yesterday filed two suits in Allegheny County Circuit Court seeking a total of $60,000 damages for alleged permanent injuries to her son in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Hazel Mae Cassidy, mother and next friend of Charles Marshall Cassidy, 208 Pearl Street, through Attorney Earl E. Manges filed a $50,000 suit against William Emerich and Ruth I. Raupach, both of 11 Valley Street.

She filed a second suit for $10,000 in her own name for the large sums she reportedly spent for medical care and hospital expenses for her son.

The declarations stated that about 12:30 a. m. July 5, 1956, Charles M. Cassidy, who was 18, was lawfully riding in the automobile owned by Ruth I. Raupach and operated by Dewey Emerich, her servant and agent.

While traveling south on U.S. Route 220 in Bedford County, Pa., about six miles north of Cumberland, at high speed the car left the highway and struck a tree.

Young Cassidy was thrown through the windshield and sustained lacerations, a concussion of the brain, contusions and bruises and was a patient at both Memorial and Johns Hopkins Hospitals. The declaration stated that the boy is permanently disabled and is required to wear a back brace.

Tax Collections At Court House Near $2,200,000

Tax collections in the office of Collector J. Wallace Close at the Court House since June 1 have almost reached the $2,200,000 level.

Mr. Close reported yesterday that August collections of state and county taxes have aggregated $55,000. The deadline for payment of county real estate taxes in order to get the three per cent discount has been extended from Saturday until noon Tuesday because the Court House will observe a three-day Labor Day weekend holiday.

June was the big month for tax collections, when a five per cent discount was allowed on county taxes. In that month about $2,050,000 was received. In July, when a four per cent discount was available, the collections ran to $85,000. With the $55,000 reported this month, some $2,190,000 has been collected.

Beginning with September a penalty will be charged on all county taxes. It starts at one-half per cent interest and increases one-half per cent thereafter.
